School bill stalls budget

Deadlock delays lawmakers' recess

By BOB EGELKO

SACRAMENTO (AP) -Assembly Republicans and dissident Democrats defeated a $250-million school finance bill late Friday and thwarted Democratic leaders' attempt to pass a $12.86-bil-lion state budget.

The deadlock forced legislators to delay their scheduled five-week recess until at least Monday. The school aid bill got a 52-0 Assembly vote but fell two votes short of the needed two-thirds majority in the 80-member house. All 25 Republicans and two Democrats, Ken Meade of Berkeley and Tom Bane of Van Nuys, did not vote for it.

Judges bar Nancy's dogs

WASHINGTON (AP) — By order of the United States Supreme Court, Nancy Dukes cannot sell het dogs from a pushcart in the New Orleans French Quarter.

She hasn't been in the business long enough.

The court decided, 8 to 0 on Friday, that New Orleans had the right to pass a law that barred pushcart vendors from the picturesque areas and that it also could exempt vendors who had continually operated the same business for more than eight years.

ONLY TWO vendors, one selling hot dogs and the other ice cream, fell under that "grandfather provision." Nancy Dukes didn't. She had had her cart in the Vieux Carre for only two years.

In New Orleans, Miss Dukes sighed and said: "I haven't talked to the lawyer yet but far as I know this is

The U.S. court of appeals said by discriminating legitimate right, the court said, to pass a law "to preserve the appearance and custom valued by the Quarter's residents and attractive to tourists."

Sniffing seen top drug-abuse problem

By ISAAC A. LEVI

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A panel of 76 scientists from 11 countries has concluded that the sniffing of solvents such as model-airplane glue is rapidly becoming the No. 1 drug abuse problem throughout the world.

They said at a meeting here this week that it is potentially worse than heroin, tobacco, alcohol and marijuana. The symposium was organized jointly by the U.S.

National Institute of Drug Abuse and its Mexican counterpart, the Centro de Estudios en Farmacodependencia, to find out just how serious the problem is. Sniffing of such poisonous volatile solvents as glue, benzene, gasoline, methyl or "blue" alcohol and paint-thinner is mostly done by children of both sexes aged 5 to 16, but it is rapidly spreading among adults, the panel found.

"It can kill and maim," said Dr. Guido Belsasso of Mexico, a top authority on the subject. He adds that if ishaled repeatedly in concentrated form, "it can damage the brain permanently, soften the bone marrow and produce anemia, and damage the kidneys and liver as well." No one knows for sure how widespread the sniffing addiction is. But authorities both in the United States and Mexico have launched a series of surveys in cooperation with private industry in order to find out. A preliminary study shows that about 1 per cent of juveniles in urban centers in the United States use inhalants. The majority of these are among hard-core poor minorities. One study conducted in a poor neighborhood showed that seven out of 100 children sniffed solvents once ' try it" and at least two of these seven went on to use it regularly. The findings indicated that the problem of invenile sniffing is probably worst in Japan, where children openly inhale solvents in amusement parks. Most use plastic bags for "a better kick" and many of these youngsters die of suffocation. Sniffing abuse is very serious in Mexico and is rapidly spreading in so-called Third World countries, according to the panel. Belsasso estimates more than 25,000 children are regular inhalers in Mexico City alone, a metropolis of 14 million people.

All the child "sniffers" surveyed in the few studies made up to now in Mexico, the United States and elsewhere suffered from loss of appetite, undernourishment and damage to internal organs.

Dr. Sidney Cohen, director of the Neuropsychiatric Institute at the University of California at Los Angeles, said: "Alcohol is commonly cited as the universal and most readily available intoxicant. In fact it is not. The group of industrial solvents and aerosols are even more widely distributed, especially when gasoline is included.

"They're the most accessible of all abused chemicals and plants."

The meeting in Mexico City was the first step taken at the international level in dealing with the problem. The scientists limited themselves to exchanging ideas, which they will eventually incorporate in recommendations they make to their respective governments.

U.S. sues to end lawyers' ad ban

WASHINGTON — The Justice Department Friday accused the American Bar Association of conspiring to violate the antitrust laws by unreasonably prohibiting lawyers from advertising their fees. In a civil suit filed in U.S. District Court, the government charged that ABA advertising prohibitions restrain price competition among lawyers and deprive persons needing legal services the opportunity to obtain information about the costs and availability of legal services. The complaint also said lawyers have been restrained from making legal services readily available, such as through the development and advertising of legal clinics and prepaid legal service plans. The court was asked to declare illegal these long-standing restrictions which are contained in the ABA's Code of Professional Responsibility.

Sludge clean-up

ATLANTIQUE, N.Y. — President Ford Friday assigned 100 Job Corps trainees to help clean up beaches on Long Island that were covered with debris in the past week. But the President did not make Nassau and Suffolk counties eligible for federal disaster aid for the clean-up. Almost all beaches on Long Island were open Friday, while Jones Beach State Park is expected to open most of its beaches Saturday. Meanwhile, the debate continued over whether an explosion at a Nassau studge holding tank early this month had contributed a significant share of the "floatable" material that later washed up on the beach.

Vet hiring strengthened

WASHINGTON — After 18 months of preparation, the Labor Department issued strengthened regulations Friday requiring federal contractors to hire and pro-mote disabled veterans and Vietnam era veterans. Contractors continue to be required to list all their job openings with state employment services and to file quarterly reports regarding employment of disabled veterans and Vietnam era veterans. The regulations apply in all cases of contracts or subcontracts amounting to $10,000 or more. They require state employment services to give veterans preference in job referrals.

Prison mandate

ALBANY, N.Y. - Bipartisan agreement on a bill that allows family court judges to mandate a minimum confinement of two years for juveniles who commit the most serious crimes of violence was announced Friday. The bill has the support of Gov. Hugh Carey, and quick passage is expected in both houses. The agreement on a controversial issue that has been festering for most of the year is one of the more important of the last-minute compromises that are expected as legislators balance their urgent desire to end the session within a few days with an equally strong need for some accomplishments on which to base their re-election campaign.

Poland cancels food price hikes

WARSAW. Poland - For the second time in six years, protesting workers have forced Poland's Communist government to withdraw proposed food price increases. Premier Piotr Jaroszewicz told parliament Friday the government has rescinded the price action and "also decreed prices should be maintained" at their 1970 levels while the matter is studied. Price increases of up to 100 per cent had been announced Thursday night and workers' meetings were held throughout the country to discuss them. At a tractor factory just outside War-saw workers left their meeting and swarmed onto railroad tracks, halting some trains into the capital. No other violent incidents were reported. The government said the price hikes were required because of expensive grain and fodder imports and poor harvests the past two

There was bloody rioting in December 1970 when Wladyslaw Gomulka — who had been Communist Party chief since 1956 - ordered broad price increases. Work ers seized factories and when Gomulka sent soldiers and police against the demonstrators 46 persons were killed "scrious mistakes" and removed him, cused Gomulka of naming Edward Gierek to succeed him. Gierek immediately declared a price freeze and has maintained it even though the average wage has almost doubled since 1970.

ROME - Italy's constitutional court struck a blow for both women's liberation and married couples Friday in a tax ruling. It declared invalid a law that added a wife's salary to her husband's wages for figuring their income taxes. The court said they could file individual returns. A 1958 law denied the wife an independent economic status for tax purposes. It also frequently boosted working couples into higher tax brackets be-cause of the combined wages. Some couples, seeking to avoid the higher taxes, obtained legal separations so they could file individual, and lower, tax returns.

Best man Barry Marx got into the act by hiding the wedding ring while Lawford searched through his own pockets.

l sold my car to a man who said he would be back later to pick up the pink slip, but he never showed up.

I've canceled my insurance, but according to the Department of Motor Vehicles the car is still listed in my name and any parking tickets will be charged to me. I have a receipt, but I can't make out his name. How can protect myself from warrants or lawsuits? V.F.,

Under state law, anyone who sells a car is required to file a notice of sale or transfer with the DMV, listing the new owner's name and address, but since you don't know either, this procedure won't really release you from all liability. However, if a ticket is issued against the car, you should be able to explain the situation in court, said a DMV spokesman. He suggested that you take a copy of your receipt to your local DMV office and fill out a notice of sale anyway. "Perhaps one of the elerks can decipher the name or at least attach a copy of the receipt to the notice. This won't remove his name from the vehicle registration records, but it will at least note that the car has been sold," he said. The ownership of a car doesn't officially change until the new owner registers it with the DMV. But when a person sells a car and notifies the DMV of the new owner's name and address, notices of any tickets charged to the car usually will go to the new owner even though he may not have changed the registration, the spokesman said. If, however, the notice of sale doesn't list the owner's name and address, the DMV will contact the original owner.

When the license tags on the car you sold expire, the new owner may be cited, and to get new tags, he'll have to obtain the pink slip and reregister the car.

Dial-A-Ride

In January the Diamond Cab Co. along with the city of Long Beach inaugurated a special bus service for bandicapped persons. As this service has become more popular, there is a need for extra buses. Long Beach promised to add some buses by July, and now I've learned that the city officials are welshing on that promise. Why is it that the city can find the money for such investments as the Queen Mary and the Grand Prix but can't fund an enterprise beneficial to its citizens? M.B., Long Beach.

"It was just an unfounded rumor that new buses would be added in July," said William Farell, general manager of the city-owned Long Beach Public Transportation Co., which administers the Dial-A-Ride plan. (The service is operated by the Diamond Cab Co. on a service is populated by the Diamond Cab Co. on a service is operated by the Diamond Cab Co. on a contract basis.) Farell said the city plans to order more buses, probably within a year, but it takes at least six months from the date the order is placed to get one of the specially equipped minibuses. He concedes that the city's six Dial-A-Ride vans are operating near capacity most of the time, but he still thinks it's premature to request city funds for new buses at this time. "In the poor future we will be evaluating the service and will near future, we will be evaluating the service and will decide how many additional buses we may need," he said. The Los Angeles City Council Friday approved a joint city-county commission to seek and administer federal money to aid the county's American Indian population of 60,000, the largest in any metropolitan area.

The commission will consist of 15 members. five each from the city, the county and the Indian community. The city will have to allocate $15,000 for the operation of the commis-

Officials said the settle-ment with the two units represented an average pay hike of 6.2 per cent. The action practically

New small fires flare up Major blazes contained

Small fires continued to flare across the dry, hot and windy California countryside Friday as fire fighters secured contain-ment of major blazes.

Los Angeles County officials declared an 1,850-acre fire near the community of Val Verde contained at 2 p.m. Sheriff's arson investigators probed the cause of the fire, which destroyed a mobile

A 50,000-gallon oil storage tank in the center of the Atlantic Richfield Company's Carson refinery caught fire Friday evening and burned for about 35 minutes before county firemen brought it under control.

The fire, which spewed dense black smake over the northern edge of Long Beach, forced the closure of the San Diego Freeway between the Carson Street offramp and the Long Beach Freeway for about 45 minutes.

A fire department spokesman said no other tanks were threatened, but the freeway was closed as a safety precaution. Thirteen fire companies were called to the scene at 1801 E. Sepulveda Bivd., at about 7:20 p.m., where they used a "fog ma-chine" to fight the blaze. The fog was used, a spokesman said, because of the danger of toxic fumes released when water is used to smother burning oil. The machine creates a layer of steam around the fire, starving it of necessary oxygen, the spokesman said.

A small explosion re-portedly started the fire, but the cause was not determined.

Flames, witnesses said, were visible from the San Diego, Harbor and Terminal Island freeways.

Damage was estimated at about $20,000.

Assemblyman Howard Berman, the Democratic floor leader, had to work several minutes gathering up votes before he won the needed two-thirds Assembly vote of 54-22.

THE SENATE voted 28-1 to approve Assembly amendments a few hours later, sending the bill to the governor.

One supporter, Assemblyman Jack Fenton, D-Montebello, said he had worked in the federal Civilian Conservation Corps of the 1930s, and considered it cheaper to put young people to work than to house them in detention centers.

workers came here Friday from the San Joaquin Valley to protest a court set-tlement they claim cost many of them their senior-ity status through "re-verse discrimination."

An afternoon meeting was called to bring together representatives of the workers, the Teamsters Union, the canneries and the Mexican American Legal Defense and Education Fund, which filed the class action suit three years ago that led to the settlement.
Implementation of the settlement began last week. It covers 74 food-processing plants in Northern California, sets hiring quotas for women and minorities in higherpaying jobs, and requires training programs for them. It also awards $4.9 million which will go mainly toward back pay for victims of past dis-crimination, according to a MALDEF lawyer.

Women and minorities, according to the settlement, also were to be granted seniority rights dating back to their em-ployment as seasonal workers rather than their admission to the full-time work force.

According to Ron La-Force, an attorney representing the workers, hardly anyone in the canneries including women and minorities - is happy with the settlement signed by William H. Orrick. Many women and minorities joined in the protest.

LaForce said if the settlement is dropped, the workers would not file a reverse discrimination suit as had been anticipated earlier.

The agreement was supposed to settle the class action civil rights suit by MALDEF and individual women plaintiffs against the Teamsters Union and the cannery industry.

"But the people in the class didn't realize what was in the class action," LaForce said in an interview. "What we have is a total reshuffling of the deck as far as seniority goes, and nobody is very happy about it."

One worker, Theodore Wright, 36, of Hunt's Oakdale plant, committed suicide on Father's Day reportedly after brooding over being knocked off the year-around work list. LaForce said many minority members and women seasonal workers were upset because they did not want to be elevated to the higher-paying, year-around jobs.

MALDEF attorney Joel

Bill makes smog unit permanent

SACRAMENTO (AP) -A bill requiring four Southern California counties to continue a nowvoluntary joint agency for fighting smog was sent to Gov. Brown's desk Friday.

The measure by Assemblyman Jerry Lewis, R-Highland, would establish in law the Southern Cali-fornia Air Pollution Con-trol District, which was formed last year by Los Angeles, Orange, River-side and San Bernardino counties.

The bill was approved Friday by the Assembly, 44-21, a day after it clear-ed the Senate. "The district exists on a voluntary basis because this legislation exists," said Assemblyman Walter Ingalls, D-Riverside, a supporter of the bill.

It has been reported that Los Angeles County supervisors are thinking of dropping out of the SCAPCD. The bill would prevent that.

THE MEASURE split the Southern California delegation, some saying it would coordinate antismog efforts, others saying it would tie the hands of county governments.
"There is no reason that it be saddled upon those counties who have shown their intent (in establishing the SCAPCD)," said Assemblyman Frank Lanterman, R-La Canada. But Assemblyman Alan Sieroty, D-Los Angeles, said the measure would make Los Angeles County "recognize the responsibility we have to other counties for the air pollution we create."

Kotchian and two other Lockheed figures, J.W. Clutter, former president of Tokyo-based Lockheed Aircraft Asia Ltd., and A.H. BRITISH PREMIER James Callaghan greets U.S. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and U.S. Ambassador to Britain Anne Armstrong in London Friday.

United West can beat Reds, says Kissinger

LONDON - Henry A. Kissinger, in what may have been his final major address in Europe as Secretary of State, said Friday that the Western countries did not have to lear competition from the Communist world so long as they had the will "to stay together and to stay the course."
"We have nothing to fear from competition," Kissinger said. "If there is a military competition, we have the strength to defend our interests. If there is an economic competition, we won it long ago. If there is an ideological competition, the power of our ideas depends only on our will to uphold them.

In his largely philosophical address to the Institute of Strategic Studies, Kissinger was optimistic about the future. He seemed eager to close out his public record on Europe on a positive note.

Although Kissinger has not flatly ruled out the possibility of his returning to office if President Ford is elected in November, his aides said this speech may have been his final major address in Europe as secretary of State.

In the speech, Kissinger also justified the policy of detente — and did not shrink from using the word — but warned the Soviet Union anew that it could not use ideological competition as a mask for spreading its power into Angola or other African

"We cannot agree that ideology alone is involved when Soviet power is ex-tended into areas such as southern Africa in the name of national liberation or when regional or local instabilities are generated or exploited in the name of proletarian internationalism," he said.

Kissinger also repeated his concern about allowing Communists to take part in Western governments, but added that the West must take steps to make necessary social and economic reforms and eliminate legitimate grievances that play into Communist hands.

In a sense, Kissinger, who worked for several weeks on this speech with determined to ensure that he would be remembered more for these remarks than for the April 1973 speech in New York when he startled the Europeans by calling for a "new Atlantic Charter."

That "charter" address touched off months of de-bate and irritation on both sides of the Atlantic. Some Europeans, particularly the French, charged that the United States was trying to impose its views on Western Europe. The French sought to use the "charter" speech as a rallying point for the formation of a more united European community to balance against the Americans.

Since then, relations have improved and there has been much more con-sultation between Washington and European capitals.

"There is no longer any question that Europe and the United States must cooperate closely, under whatever label, and that the unity of Europe is essential to that process."

U.S. seeks economic unity in helping poorer nations

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States next week will seek closer cooperation among industrial powers in facing the world's economic problems, especially in negoti-

The major economic problems facing industrial nations will be discussed Sunday and Monday at a two-day economic summit conference in Puerto Rico called by President Ford. Besides Ford, leaders of Britain, France, West and Canada will attend.

They will meet under heavy security at the secluded and plush Dorado Beach Hotel, 17 miles west of San Juan. Demonstrations by pro-independence groups are likely, but probably will be kept well away from meeting sites.

In addition to Ford, the meetings will be attended by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, Treasury Secretary Wil-liam E. Simon and Alan Greenspan, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers

The agenda will include negotiations with poor na-tions, which will take place in Paris later this year, the pace of recovery from recession, the special problems of Italy and Britain, and trade relations with Communist nations.

The leaders will be expected to ratify an agreement worked out in Paris earlier this week at meetings of the 24-nation Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD). That agreement commits members to a slow but steady economic growth in years ahead.

U.S. officials say the setback in Nairobi result-ed in large part from the failure of industrial nations to consult ahead of time on the position they wanted to take.

of tax-break

By EILEEN SHANAHAN New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana said Friday be will ask the Senate to strike from the pending tax bill a provision that could benefit members of his family.

Long is chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, where the pending tax bill was written.

In a statement to the Senate, Long said that when the provision was presented to the committee as an amendment to a tax bill previously passed by the House "no one could have known that the amendment might have benefitted my children or other relatives."

The fact that the tax bill contained two provisions that could confer major financial benefits on Long's children, his nieces and nephews and grandnieces and grandnephews was disclosed Friday by The New York Times.

The Times said that the tax-savings that members of the Long family would realize, if the provisions became law, could reach hundreds of thousands of dollars, over the years, and possibly millions.

Long did not dispute the accuracy of The Times story in any respect. Instead, he simply said he had not known that the bill would benefit his family and defended the propriety of the legislation in correcting a problem be said Congress never intended to create. He said the problem exists "all over the country."

LONG'S STATEMENT appeared to be addressed to only one of two different provisions in the pending bill that appear to benefit his family.

This is the provision that would prevent the continued use of the 22 per cent oil and gas depletion allowance in cases where income from oil drilling was received by a trust, and state law or the trust agreement required the depletion allowance to be allocated to the trust. Louisiana law contains such a requirement and this provision would clearly affect all of the many trusts that exist for the benefit of various descendants of Long's father, the late Louisiana governor and senator, Huev Long.

Long did not mention another provision of the bill that would apparently affect some of the Long family trusts. This amendment provides that the depletion allowance will not be discontinued — as it will be in the cases of changes of ownership of oil properties if a change of ownership occurs solely because of the death, birth, or adoption of a beneficiary of the trust.

Long's commitment to "insist that the language that could favorably affect my relatives be stricken" thus apparently covered only the first provision.

It appeared probable, from the comments made at the end of Long's speech, that the basic amendments might not be stricken from the bill.

Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., who had offered the two amendments, said that he did not believe it was fair to remove them from the bill since they corrected real problems that Congress had not intended to create.

'IT WAS NOT the intention to give anybody a windfall," Dole said.

He characterized The New York Times article as "a cheap shot that didn't hit anyone and didn't hurt anvone.

Long said that it would be "all right with me" if the amendments could be changed so that none of their benefits would apply "to any of my children." He did not, at this point in the debate, suggest wording any amendment so that it would exclude his nieces and nephews, or other relatives, in addition to his two daughters.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., who is sometimes called the conscience of the Senate, said he did not think it would be fair for Long's family to be excluded from the benefits of the bill.

Sen. Floyd K. Haskell, D-Colo., a tax-reform advocate, who has fought Long on many of the provisions of the pending bill, said that there had been "nothing devious" done by Long in connection with the proposals. "He is a man of honor," Haskell said.

Long asks out FBI in New York a 'runaway office'

By JOSEPH VOLZ Knight News Service

WASHINGTON - FBI officials here are portraying the bureau's New York field office as a "runaway office" which carried out widespread illegal breakins and burglaries against political dissidents and antiwar groups for seven years after the late FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover ordered a halt to such practices.

FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley has insisted repeatedly since taking of-fice three years ago that so-called domestic intelligence burglaries were stopped in 1966. But the New York News was told that not even the top bureau officials who briefed Kelley were aware that about 20 agents in the New York office were continuing the break-ins.

Justice Department sources said that William Gardner, a lawyer in the Civil Rights Division who is heading the investiga-tion, has offered immunity to FBI agents who actually pulled the "black bag jobs" if they reveal who gave the orders.

The normal procedure prior to the 1966 cutoff was for Hoover himself, or an assistant director in charge of intelligence, to give the order. Frequently, the message would be passed over the telephone to the field office involved with no written record. Kelley was able to find only 238 domestic intelligence break-ins between 1942 and 1968 in the records.

Until recently, John Ma-lone headed the New York FBI office. He is a defendant in a civil suit filed by the Socialist Workers Party. The bureau has admitted more than 90 burglaries of the party's Manhattan headquarters over a six-year period.

But, according to Justice Department sources. tice Department sources, just who gave the goahead from Washington has been baffling Gardner.
Two former FB1 intelligence chiefs flatly deny that they were aware of, or ordered, any domestic break-ins after 1966. One FBI source said: "They're going to swing in New York. It was unauthorized.

They had no go-ahead."
"It was wholesale breaking and entering," this source said. "One guy mulled at least 100 jobs." pulled at least 100 jobs One retired FBI black-bag expert, assigned to New York, has told friends that virtually his entire responsibility for 20 years was black-bag jobs. He frequently would receive commendations, including bonuses, which would be duly noted in the FBI's house organ," Investigator." Although the reason for the meritorious service was not detailed, keen readers of the magazine knew that another blackbag job, either for domesor foreign intelligence, had been accomplished. The break-ins to obtain financial and membership information, are believed to have stopped when Kelley took over. But repeated efforts by Kelley to find out the extent of break-ins brought reports of lack of knowledge.

Some Kelley advisers have been asking him to replace his top aides, virtually all Hoover hold-overs, because they have kept him in the dark to avoid embarrassment to themselves. But Kelley has sought to move slowly in order not to damage FBI morale any further.

Audit of House committees set

By RICHARD D. LYONS New York Times Service

WASHINGTON - Rep. Frank Thompson, the new chairman of the scandaltainted House Administration Committee, Friday ordered an audit of about $30 million in expenses of committees including

Thompson said the audits would be made under his direction by ac-countants on loan from the General Accounting Office, the investigations arm of Congress.

The New Jersey Demo-crat, who formally re-placed Rep. Wayne L. Hays of Ohio only two days ago as committee chairman, said the audits could include those of the records of years prior to 1976 and might involve the office accounts of some Congressmen.

BUT HE added that he had "no intention of combing through the records of 435 members."

Thompson's announcement came only a day after Rep. John J. Rhodes of Arizona, the minority leader, made a request to begin at once a complete audit of the accounts of "the whole House" in order "for Congress to regain the trust of the peo-

Thompson said he had started inquiring into the feasibility of an audit several days before Rhodes's statement, and had conferred about the necessity for examining the books with Speaker Albert of Oklahoma and Rep. Thomas J. O'-Neill of Massachusetts,

THE Democratic leadership, mindful that na-tional elections are less than five months away, has been seeking to dampen Republican charges of scandal in the House. The leadership drew up a series of reform proposals aimed at lessening the potential for chicanery by streamlining the accounting systems used by the House, making the records more accessible to the public, and even reducing some of the perquisites enjoyed by representa-

This reform package was approved by the House Democratic Caucus Wednesday, and again by the House Administration Committee. It is to be voted on by the full House next Thursday.

THOMPSON told a news conference that "the purpose of these examinations will be to insure that the books are in good order, to establish facts where they may be in doubt, and to identify any basic weaknesses in the accounts system of the House."

Asked if the purpose of the audit was to review the performance of Hays as committee chairman, Thompson said: "There's an obvious connection, but the audit isn't directed at Mr. Hays or this commit-tee in particular."

But he said a cursory examination of the books showed that the name of Elizabeth Ray was missing from "four monthly reports of the committee" at a time when "she was in fact on the payroll."

MISS RAY has charged, and Hays has demed, that she had been hired as a clerk for the committee at a salary of $14,000 a year to perform no duties other than to serve as his mistress. While conceding a liaison with Miss Ray, Hays has stated that she did in fact perform meaningful work for the committee.

But Thompson said the fact that the Ray records were missing, which he attributed to either "a clerical error or a deliber-ate omission," did not mean that the Administration Committee was going to open an investigation into the Ray affair. Her charges already are under investigation by the Justice Department and the House Committee on Standards of Official Conduct.

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press

Less than 50 cents of every dollar you spend to buy a new house goes to pay for the cost of the house itself, according to the National Association of Home Builders.

Government figures show that the average pur-chase price of a new home during May was $46,300. That was a decrease of $2,200 from the previous month's record-high, but the figure still was more than double the level of 10 years ago.

Where does all the money go?

The home builders group took a $38,500 house and, based on preliminary estimates of 1975 costs, provided a breakdown. Remember: individual expenses vary widely depending on location, the amount of insulation or heating needed, local regulations, etc.

Michael Sumichrast, chief economist for the associ-ation, said labor and materials still are the single biggest expense in a new house, accounting for $18.617, or 48.4 per cent of the cost. (In 1969, labor and materials accounted for 54.6 per cent of the average purchase appliance figure would include only a bare minimum.

The next single biggest item — and one which has been rising steadily - is land which in 1975 cost $8,280 or 21.5 per cent. The cost of the financing for the builder was $4,081 or 10.6 per cent; profit and overhead were $4,620 or 12 per cent and other expenses, including items such as sewer inspection fees, accounted for $2,902 or 7.5 per cent of the cost.

ACCORDING TO A 1972-73 study done for the home builders, the contractor's net profit before taxes was about 5 per cent of the selling price of a new house.

While there isn't too much you can do about the rising costs, there are ways of cutting worry about problems after purchase.

The home builders association, acting on recommendation by Virginia Knauer, special assistant to the President for consumer affairs, established a Home Owners Warranty (HOW) program two years ago. Since then, according to a study by the consumer attairs division of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the HOW program has spread to 35 states with 3,000 participating builders. Fifty thousand houses have been insured under the program.

Further information is available by writing Home Owners Warranty Corp., National Housing Center, 15th and M Sts., N.W., Washington, D.C., 20005 or calling 202-

Here's how to take advantage of the program. When buying a new house, ask the builder whether he offers a warranty and compare warranties among different developers.

-If you decide to buy a HOW-insured house not all warranties are connected with the HOW program ask the builder for all the informational materials on the plan. You should get a copy of the warranty agreement, signed by both you and the builder; a consumer information booklet; and a certificate of participation in the master insurance policy.

-Before you move into your house, go through it with the builder and develop a list of things you want fixed. This is a requirement in the HOW program.

——If the repairs are not made by the time you move in contact the builder. If he does not make good on his guarantees and you still have a complaint, put it in writing and send it to your HOW council.

When you take possession of your house, make sure that manufacturers' warranties on items such as the furnace and major appliances are turned over to

Home building | Beef prices not expected to rise

Retail beef prices have come down slightly in the past six weeks and probably will not rise as much this summer as had been thought earlier, Agriculture Department special-ists said Friday. A month ago it looked as if consumers would see store beef prices rise sharply in July and Au-gust. Now, mainly because farmers and ranchers have been sending more cattle to market than was estimated, retail beef prices may not advance nearly as much.

In fact, department reports showed, the average all-cut price of beef sold in stores dropped slightly in May to less than $1.42 a pound, a decline of threetenths of a cent from April Preliminary figures for June showed that beef prices dropped further, to a little more than $1.40 a pound.

Bureau of Labor Statistics reported that beef prices rose from April to May. But Agriculture Department officials said those figures are gathered in the first week of each month while theirs are computed over the entire month.

Terry Barr, acting staff economist, said he does not expect the decline to continue in July and August, but added that any increases probably will be smaller than had been an-

A month ago some department economists said beef prices might rise to around $1.50 a pound on the average by late sum-mer. Barr said he could not predict what the increase might now be. But he said it appears that there will be "no real big surge" this summer.

Last July, beef prices rose to a record of $1.61 a pound before declining for

earlier had counted on live cattle prices to continue rising by now, as they do seasonally when pastures are available and fewer animals are slaughtered. But drought in some areas, including parts of the upper midwest and California, have forced some producers to market more of their stock.

Bowie tells Charlie to play players; Charlie sues Bowie

CHICAGO (AP) — Owner Charles O. Finley of the Oakland A's filed a $10 million damage suit against baseball Commissioner Bowie Kunn Friday, asking for a temporary restrain-ing order to block Kuhn's edict which cancelled the biggest series of player sales in baseball

The suit, filed in U.S. District Court, charges to deprive Finley of his rightful money from the sale of his players and several civil rights violations, said Finley's attorney, Neil Papiano of Los Angeles.

Also named as defendants were the American League, the National League, the Major League Executive Council, the Boston Red Sox and the New York Yankees.

The suit stems from Kuhn's cancellation of the sale by Finley of Vida Blue to the Yankees for $1.5 million and of Joe Rudi and Rollie Fingers to the Red Sox for $1 million each.

Those sales came just prior to the baseball trading deadline of midnight, June 15 and Kuhn ruled last Friday that they were not in the "best interests of baseball." He then ordered that the three players be restored to the Oakland roster.

Finley, however, has refused to play the trio, despite Kuhn's teletype Thursday night directing Finley to "remove any restraint against the use of these players in Oakland games."

Meanwhile, Finley sent a telegram to Kuhn seeking clarification of Kuhn's teletype. Kuhn then sent a telegram to Finley Friday, Warning that there would be "grave penalties" if the club does not use the three players "in a

"That is, decisions whether or to what extent these players actually participate in games should be based on precisely the same considerations that apply to other players on the A's roster and that governed these three players prior to June 15," Kuhn's telegram said.

"So that there can be no doubt as to the meaning of my directive, it means that Fingers, Blue and Rudi should be used in a normal way."

The telegran was sent to both Finley in Chicago and A's manager Chuck Tanner with the club in Oakland. The commissioner's message held both the owner and manager responsible for using the players.

After filing the suit, Finley said that none of the three players would start or play for the A's until legal aspects of the suit were cleared up.

Despite Kuhn's second telegram, Finley showed no sign of wavering.

"I will not play them," he reiterated Friday night "I'm not concerned about the grave consequences. Tell him (Kuhn) to fire his status clarified.

"I request a specific reply to the following question," Finley's telegram to the teams read.

Charlie loses legal appeal in Catfish case

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The California State Court of Appeal Friday upheld arbitration ordering Oakland Athletics owner Charles O. Finley to pay $50,000 in deferred salary to former A's pitcher Jim (Catfish). Hunter and making the player a free agent.

The 2-1 decision by the court dealt with both a contract between Hunter, now with the New York Yankees, and Finley for the 1974 and 1975 seasons and the question of whether the "free agent" designation was proper.

A lower court had denied a petition seeking to overturn the arbitration award.

"Absent proof that the parties entered the agreement with the intent to fraudulently concealing its existence from the tax authorities, the agreement was valid and enforceable," said Appeals Court Judge Murray Draper and retired Alameda County Superior Court Judge Folger Emerson, sitting on

Concerning the arbitrator's rul-ing and Finley's contention that the application of baseball's reserve clause is not subject to arbitration, the judges noted the issue had been discussed at length in a 1976 decision by the 8th Circuit U.S. Court of Appeals in St. Louis.

OAKLAND (AP) - The Oakland A's voted Friday night to go on strike Sunday if owner Charles O. Finley did not use pitchers Vida Blue and Rollie Fingers and outfielder Joe Rudi by that

Todd emphasized that there were no negative votes in the strike vote, although some players did abstain from voting.

Finley, contacted in Chicago and told of the players' decision to strike by Sunday, was quoted by Todd as saying: "If they go on strike. I'll call up 25 players from the minor leagues to play for me. I'll suspend any striking players the rest of the year."

However, Finley, obviously afraid of possible injury and loss of value to the trio, has steadfastly refused to use the players.

U.S. loses Liquori and Bennett to leg injuries

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Qualifying action at the U.S. Olympic Track and Field Trials raised as many questions as answers Friday as two of the United States' best bets for Olympic medals were eliminated.

However, Maxie Parks, Fred Newhouse and Herman Frazier all qualified for the Olympic team, giving the United States a strong contingent of 400-meters runners.

Halecki stymies Dodgers again

By GORDON VERRELL

Trailing by a run, the Dodgers had the bases loaded with two out in the bottom of the ninth inning against the San Francisco Giants Friday night at Dodger Stadium.

Dusty Baker, the man the Dodgers had traded for during the winter with the notion that he might be the answer to the club's run-scoring problems, was the scheduled hitter.

It appeared to be a tailor-made spot for Baker, even though he is having trouble and had just five hits in his previous 34 at-bats.

But he didn't bat. Manny Mota, the pinch hitter deluxe, batted instead, and struck out, as the Giants

Baker expressed disappointment at not being able to bat with the game on the line, but said:

'I've been hit for twice in my career, by Hank Aaron and now Manny Mota. They're two of the best hitters the game has ever known. No one wants to be hit for but, heck, what can I say?"

Manager Walter Alston explained by saying, "I'm worrying about winning the ball game, not hurting somebody's feelings. I'll send up the best man I've got. Anyway, I think I've shown plenty of confidence in Durch to the state of the say of the dence in Dusty by staying with him as long as I have."

Mota, who ranks fifth on base-ball's all-time list with 99 career pinch hits, has been having trouble. too. He hasn't had a successful pinch hit in more than a month, since May 23, failing in his last eight opportunities.

Alston's disappointment wasn't so much with Mota as it was the fact the Dodgers suffered their third 1-0 loss in nine days and again have fallen 4½ games behind Cin-

Ed Halicki scattered seven hits in beating the Dodgers for the second time this season, both on shutouts. The last one, on June 1, was a two-hitter.

Burt Hooton took the loss but shouldn't have. He didn't allow the Giants a hit until two were out in the seventh and the base hit that beat him was a broken bat single by Chris Speier in the top of the ninth.

Asked if he could pitch any bet-ter than he did—he allowed only four singles and struck out five— Hooton shrugged his shoulders and remarked, "I could have shut 'em

But he dueled Halicki, a man who entered the game with a mis-leading 15-31 career record. At least against the Dodgers it's misleading.

"I get psyched every time I face 'em," said the 25-year-old Halicki who hurled a no-hitter last season against the Mets. "I was a Yankee fan when I was a kid and I became a Dodger hater when they swept the Yankees in the '63 Series. I still hate 'em'"

That's obvious. He has four shutouts in his career and three of them have been against the Dodgers. The other was his no-hitter.

Dalton told MacPhail he would like to see the umpiring quartet of Rich Garcia, Lou DiMuro, Bill Kunkel and Dave Phillips dispersed. Something to do with spreading mediocrity to some of the other crews. The general consensus around the league is that the quality of umpiring in the A.L. has dropped off drastically in recent years. They were his eighth and ninth home runs of the season and gave him a club-leading 48 RBI. Birdie putt on 20 gives Hill crown

Carolyn Hill, a little lightweight Carolyn Hill, a little lightweight at 117 pounds, delivered a heavy-weight's punch with a 15-foot birdie putt at the 20th hole to defeat Millie Stanley for the championship of the 49th Long Beach Women's Match Play tournament at El Dorado Park.

The 17-year-old had controlled riday's contest from the eighth hole. She was 2-up at the turn; lost the 10th with a bogey when she overshot the green; went back to 2-up with an 8-foot birdie at 11, then promptly dropped 12 with another

"We'd be tickled to death to play them, but we have to protect ourselves against any lawsuits," he said. "They can sue us for playing their property. Bowie Kuhn, being an attorney himself, should no better than to send us telegrams like he's been sending."

"Finley' suit asks the court to order the Yankees to pay Finley the $1.5 million and for the Red Sox to pay the $2 million, as was stipulated in the cash transaction for the three players.

It also asks the court to declare that Kuhn "has no power or authority to void the sale or assignment of players" according to the Major League Agreement. The suit was assigned to Judge Frank McGarr.

Attached to a copy of the suit was a transcript of the meeting Kuhn held with Finley and other principals in New York June 17. It quotes Finley as telling Kuhn that he tried up to six hours before the trading deadline to make a deal for the A's unsigned ballplayers. He said he talked with every club except Kansas City. "And never until that last day," Finley said, "not until that last day did we start talking about selling ballplayers, when I was convinced that I could not make a deal with any of my fellow members.'

Finley also told Kuhn at the meeting that he "tried everything that I know" in an attempt to sign the players. Because of the present legal interpretation of baseball's reserve clause, unsigned players can become free agents at the end of the 1976 season. Rudi and Fingers are still unsigned, but Blue has reportedly signed a three-year contract. Blue apparently claims the contract contained certain assurances that he wouldn't

According to the transcript, Finley told Kuhn at the meeting that he was having difficulty making a profit in Oakland and denied that he sold the three players in order to leave baseball.

"Am I trying to get out of baseball?" Finley asked rhetorically. "Am I trying to milk the goddam game dry to get out and make money? No! I am trying to keep it

Dispute over 1977 prize money

Women to boycott Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Chris Evert announced Friday that the world's top women tennis stars will not compete at Wimbledon next year because the All-England Club will not give them the same prize money as the men.

The graph of the property of the prop

The quarrel came to a head on another day of sizzling heat at the championships, the men dominated the action on the courts, but the women made the news behind the scenes.

Miss Evert, president of the Women's Tennis Association, had a face-to-face meeting with Air Vice Marshal Sir Brian Burnett, chairman of the All-England Club. She said unless the women got equal prize money, they will boycott Wimbledon in 1977 and accept an offer of another tournament in the United Burnett told her the demands will not be met.

"That means WTA members will not be here next year," said Jerry Diamond, executive director of the WTA

This dispute started last year when Billie Jean King, then president of WTA, met the AllEngland Club and won some concessions over prize money. The club agreed then to give the women's quarterdespite their smaller numbers, and the better players are getting 80 per cent.

"Therefore, on a strict basis of equal pay for equal amount of work, the women players should get approximately 50 per cent of the men's prize money," Burnett said.

"They are in fact getting 66 per cent over-all despits their smaller numbers and the better players."

Burnett said the club had agreed with Ms. King there should be a more equal distribution of prize money for the last eight in the women's singles and the finalists in the doubles, but he added:

"The fact remains that in earlier rounds the standard of play of the women is such that they are nothing like such a great draw for the public as the men players, whose standard in depth is extremely high today.

Diamond said 40 members of WTA had signed a letter agreeing not to play at Wimbledon unless they got parity in prize money.

Sitting on the floor and surrounded by photogra-phers and newsmen in a scene of pandemonium, Ali dismissed the fact that he had only landed two punches by saying, "I just couldn't hit him while he was on the floor."

When asked what he thought when Inoki brought him to the mat, he replied with a little of his usual verve, "I was just letting time go by while I collected my $6 million."
Ledell said he had scored the fight a draw because Ali had put up a good defense, "a very, very good defense."

He conceded that Inoki had shown a good offensive, "but that was not enough." He said he had penalized Inoki twice, once for a low blow and once for unauthorized kicking.

Ali weighed 218 44 pounds for the match and lnoki weighed 221 45. Ali received $6 million and lnoki could earn as much as $4 million.

Despite the massive pre-match publicity and countless threats of violence by the contestants, it was a tedious confrontation, with neither combatant making much contact. Each was afraid to approach the territory which the other man had staked out for himself-Inoki dominating the center of the ring, Ali dancing along

Inoki, challenging Ali's assertion that he could beat anybody any time, set the tone for the match at the opening bell when he rushed from his corner with a flying leap, landed on his backside and tried to snare Ali with his legs.

He kept this up throughout the 15 rounds and managed to bruise Ali's legs with his continuous kicking.

Ali circled around the ring, taunting the big Japanese wrestler and sticking his tongue out at him. But he stayed out of range of Inoki's long legs punch until the seventh round. He grazed Inoki's ear with a jab in the 10th round, but did not land anything approaching a solid blow until late in the 13th, when an Ali left shook Inoki's head.

He landed one more sudden left to Inoki's head in the 14th round, but the wrestler was unfazed by the blow.

In the sixth, Ali tried to counter Inoki's tactics of lying on his back and swinging with his feet by grabbing the wrestler's legs, Inoki, who looked like an overturned beetle, quickly bounced up and sat on the surprised Ali. But with Ali under the ropes, the referee had to stop the action. Alicalso went down briefly after a couple of other Inoki kicks, but each time was on his feet immediately. The most serious grappling; rame in the 13th. Inoki had his arms around Ali's waist while Ali made funny faces and the referee struggled to move the two away from the ropes.

Ineki gave Ali a knee in the groin as the referee broke the clinch, and Inoki was penalized one point.

The referee examined All in his corner and the boxer made a move to leave the ring, but then returned immediately.

nett was expected to be a contender for the team after he finished fourth at Munich, missing winning a medal by only 10 points. But he strained a hamstring muscle after long jumping only 23-11/4 off a bad ankle and he withdrew from competition.

Los Angeles' Fred Dixon grabbed the firstday lead in the event with 4,337 points, Bill Hancock of Chicago was second with 4,248 after tying the American record for a decathlon high jump by clearing 7-1½, and world record holder Bruce Jen-

GIANT THROWS

NEW YORK (AP) - Wrestler Andre the Giant stunned boxer Chuck Wepner with a head butt in the third round, tossed him out of the ring and won their wrestling-boxing match Friday night at Shea Stadium when Wepner couldn't scramble into the ring within 20 seconds.

The Giant, who doubled Wepner in weight and took the 220-pound boxer's hardest shots without apparent trouble, spun Wepner 360 degrees in the air and depositted him outside the ring.

With part of the Shea Stadium infield turf on his back, Wepner was aided by one of his seconds in an effort to return to the ring inside the 20-second limit. But he couldn't get there in time, and referee John Stanley ruled that the fight was over at 1:15 of the third round. Assistants from both corners converged in the ring and began mixing it up, a bizarre windup to this bizarre confrontation which was a preliminary event to the Muhammad Ali-Antonio Inoki martial arts encounter in The strategy of the match was obvious from the outset. Caxes exceed earnings

By BOB GEIVET Staff Writer

Orange County's big Irvine Co. earned a record $11.4 million in its last business year ending April 30— but it was not enough to pay its taxes of almost $12

Stockholders will get $1.35 a share, up 5 cents from last year's earnings of better than $10.9 million.

THE COMPANY, which has a vast business, commercial, rental, home building and agricultural empire on its more than 77,000 acres in central Orange County, had sales of $103.8 million in its last business year.

President Raymond Watson said that the record is remarkable, in that there was a marked slowdown in business operations generally during that business year.

It was the 10th successive year that the company sales had increased, he said. They are up 700 per cent since 1966.

In one year, Watson said, the company's tax burden jumped from $10.1 million

Stocks excite life insurers

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)- At a time when many Americans have become disillusioned with the stock market, that most conservative of all industries, life insurance, is getting excited about it.

Following a relaxation of regulatory restrictions, policies already are being sold whose face value— the rate paid to beneficiaries — is governed partly by how well the stock market performs.

Note the phrase "by how well." It doesn't matter if in the meantime the market collapses, because the traditional feature of a fixed return— the face value-- is guaranteed.

"OUR EXPERIENCE tells us that in the long run the returns on common stock will be greater than on bonds and mortgages," says Harry Walker, presi-dent of an Equitable Life Assurance subsidiary that is the first to write such insurance.

In Walker's opinion, the Equitable Variable Life Insurance Co. should be able to obtain a return 2 to 3 per cent better than that earned by the traditional, more conservative investment procedures.

The insurance costs more than most ordinary whole life policies, but Walker maintains that it is impossible to make comparisons because of the dif-ferent nature of the policies.

At age 40, a female can obtain $100,000 face amount for an annual premium of $2,080, a male for $2,353. At age 55 the annual premiums are about double—$4,012 for women, $4,620 for men. The policies pay no dividends, but do have cash value.

IN RETURN, the insured's beneficiaries are guaranteed a minimum of $100,000, and possibly more, although at this time many stock market investors have questions about just how much more.

Even though the Standard & Poor's 500 Stock Average gained only 5 per cent from 1965 through 1975, Walker has high hopes for his new product, now being sold in 14 states, but soon expected to be offered in all 50. When permission is granted by all the individual state insurance commissioners, he expects to be able to sell at least $200 million worth a year, 10 per cent of all Equitable's sales, enough to generate $4 million of premiums in the first year.

Walker remains optimistic, despite the relatively poor market performance in the most recent decade. From 1930 to 1975, he notes, the S&P average, with all dividends reinvested, increased 11.1 per cent. In the 1940-1975 period the same average rose 12.4 per cent, and in the 2½ decades through 1975 the gain was 11.9 per cent. It is only in the more recent comparisons that returns have declined, he observes.

BETWEEN 1960-75, for example, a period in which many stocks rose sharply, the over-all average advanced only 8.6 per cent, but Walker states, "We don't think the last 10 years will repeat themselves."

Insurance companies have a way with figures, of course, and Walker is quite certain of his. He and his associates maintain there is little or nothing in the future to change the long-term pattern. This observation would seem to contradict some of the viewpoint often expressed by big business, including insurance companies, that free enterprise including insurance companies, that free enterprise is being thwarted by growing socialistic tendencies.

Walker replies by saying "We don't in any way make projections of what the return will be; it's up to the belief of each buyer." But he repeats that the past is as solid a criterion as any available.

If the individual wants the more conservative policy that guarantees a fixed return— and no more— he still has that choice, says Walker. "Our agents sell both."

WITH GROSS income of $103.8 million, the company realized $78.8 million from land developments, $18.2 million from agriculture, and $5.2 million from real estate sales. It also earned $1.5 million in interest on its denseits. interest on its deposits.

Irvine Co. sales of acreage last year reduced its net holdings to 77,686 acres, the company's annual report showed. It also has an 83,881-acre cattle ranch in Montana and farms 5,475 acres in Imperial County.

Directors of the Irvine Foundation, which owns 54 per cent of the company stock and so controls its operations, were re-elected without opposition— and with dissent only from Mrs. Joan Irvine Smith, granddaughter of James E. Irvine, the ranch founder.

SHE AND KEITH Gaede hold family stock; she with 21.4 per cent owns more than any other individual. She did not vote on the re-election of President Watson, Howard P. Allen, John V. Newman, William T. White III and William S. Lund as directors.

Mrs. Smith is currently challenging the Foundation's intent to sell its controlling interest in the Irvine Co. to Mobil Oil Co. for $110 million, which figures out to $24

The oil company upped its offer to $200 million for all stock, and the Foundation petitioned the Santa Ana Superior Court to set aside a temporary injunction forbidding the completion of the deal pending a hearing.

Judge Claude M. Owens now has the case under advisement.

Industry Week

Many managers moonlighting

CLEVELAND- Moonlighting can be found among managers from supervisors to presidents, Industry Week said Friday.

Often the second job is of a consulting nature. Corporate accountants who prepare income tax re-turns or help a small business with its books are a typical example, the magazine for managers says.

But the fact that few chairmen board characterize being paid to sit on other boards as "moonlighting" suggests the quest for challenge and satisfaction is one major reason managers moonlight.

Many interviewed by Industry Week contend that they were "pushed" into a moonlighting situation because their main job did not make full use of their theat. of their talents.

SOMETIMES those talents were job-related, as in the case of managers serving other firms as consultants. In other cases they were not, such as one manager who is a professional photographer at night and on weekends. Whatever their activity, few managers interviewed admit that money is their prime reason for moon-lighting. But all mentioned that they did enjoy the extra income. Few companies have any written policy on moonlighting. Where there is a corporate statement regarding managers having another job, it is usuala conflict of interest prohibition, Industry Week finds. Many firms suggest that "managers can do whatever they want on their own time as long as it doesn't interfere with their prime job." But on the other hand, they fre-quently add, "if he can quently add, "if he can adequately handle both jobs then he could be doing a better job here."

SOME FIRMS hold the view that "we are not here to be a training ground for other companies" while still others question whose knowledge will be used by a moonlighting manager-consultant, "his own or ours?" And Industry Week heard still another objection — an industrial relations vice president con-cerned that "moonlighting is bad public relations because it suggests we don't pay enough.

One organization that takes an almost opposite view is a bank. The institution's professional employees, especially economists, have been subtly urged to take part-time jobs teaching at the university level.

But the bank is preparprohibit any type of partitime employment which "either would be or presents the appearance of conflict." Teaching would not be banned under the new rule, but working nights at the racetrack most certainly would," Industry Week concludes.

Cash 'n carry success for Carriage Pop

Free samples and simplicity are making Pop Industries a success.

The firm, which expects to have 50 to 60 stores in California and Arizona by yearend, is cashing in on the fastest growing part of the soft drink business cash and carry sales.

"NORMALLY EVERYTHING starts in the West and moves east," says Paul Lajoie, Pop Industries president, "but this started back East and is just getting here. Last year cash and carry grew from nine to 12.5 per cent of the national (soft drink) market, but in California, it's only 2 per cent."

Carriage Pop is sold only by the case, two dozen 12-ounce bottles for $2.79, or about half the cost of most better-known brands. Customers also have to plunk down a $2.70 deposit on the case and returnable bottles but that is refundable.
"You get customers in the store with the price and the fact that they can taste the soda pop," says Lorraine Lajoie, the company's treasurer. "But you get the repeat business because of quality." Carriage Pop is concocted by Chuck Richard, 61, a chemist (and company secretary) who spent more than 20 years in the soft drink business with Orange Crush, Pepsi and Seven-Up before founding Pop Industries with the Lajoies and one other partner.

OUR OPERATION METHOD allows us to keep the price down where it belongs," says Lajoie, ex-plaining that Pop Industries' streamlined bottling plant requires only four employes (the company has

Mercenaries to be People and ideas sentenced Monday

By HUGH MULLIGAN

LUANDA, Angola -Black Africa's first great courtroom drama reaches its climax Monday when a people's revolutionary court decides whether 13 white mercenaries should face a firing squad.

There is no appeal from he action of the court, which could also order lengthy prison terms or expulsion of the three Americans and 10 Britons cantured in the civil war. Any death sentence must be confirmed by Angolan President Agostinho Neto.

A DEATH verdict could only be a nightmare for Dr. Neto, a gynecologist trained to save life and a poet concerned with humanity. But above all he is an African leader whose message on mercenaries is eagerly awaited by the Third World as a warning on the liberation struggles in Rhodesia and South Africa.

He must also weigh his own political future in a country still divided by bitter memories of the war and lingering sporadic fighting, where the nineday trial was broadcast over local radio and TV and demonstrators in the streets cried "Death to the mercenaries.

The court numbers four men and a woman sitting in high-backed leather chairs in the old colonialstyle Chamber of Commerce auditorium and acting as both judge and

and treatment of prisoners

Perhaps more realistic, Daniel Gearhart, who left a wife and four kids on welfare in Kensington, Md., for an ill-fated threeday career as a soldier of misfortune, has begun building bookcases in his cell at St. Paul's Prison. He has asked Cesner, when he gets back to his law office in Columbus, Ohio, to send on the philosophical works of Schopenhauer and Nietsche and other deep tomes that add up to more than a weekend of read-

GEARHART has promised, if he ever gets home, to bring criminal charges against the California recruiters who brought him out to Africa to fight on the losing side in the civil war and, he says, fleeced him of the money that never got who once worked for a Jersey City bookmaker, said his Cuban jailers helped him see the truth about "the monster of American consumer society" and he has converted to international socialism. He told the court he is willing to work, even fight, for the Angolan people who saved his life after he came as a paid gun to help kill them.

Grillo turned out to be the friendliest prosecution witness among the prison-ers but did not sell out in his testimony the two Vietnam veterans who came out on the plane with him.

THE undisputed centerpiece of the trial was Costas Georgiou, alias Col. Callan, who came on stage with a defiant, swaggering James Cagney tough-guy up the courtroom drama with a tortured Alec Guinness portrayal of a broken colonel, talking more to himself than the court in confession of his guilt in the massacre of 14 British mercenaries who refused to fight. Cesner's one-hour and 20-minute summing up speech on behalf of white mercenaries before an African People's Court was hailed as "a masterpiece, the best possible defense," by Kermit Coleman, a Chicago civil rights lawyer who observ-

Cesner also was praised by the presiding judge for his earnest, dignified conduct in the People's Court, and the law school at Luanda University has asked for copies of his summation.

EVEN THE government-controlled newspapers credited him restoring a balance after the people's prosecu-tor spent three hours and 36 minutes denouncing mercenarism, imperialism and the CIA, and only four minutes dealing with the specific charges against the accused for whom he was demanding the death penalty.

The nine-day trial had its other high points. There was Andrew Gordon McKenzie, a shrunken figure in a wheel chair clutching the stump of his left leg amputated at the knee, calling out "lying bastard" to one prosecution witness who was arrested next day for perjury. He demanded of another who fingered him how he could have killed three people in a bar in northern Angola early in January when his passport and air ticket showed he was still in England.

THERE WAS the arrival of the British lawyers on the third day of the trial. One took 18 minutes to say hello to the court and another in his best Etonian tones was caught in a classic cultural collision with a black speaking a tribal language of parables and folk sayings.

London barrister Clive Stanbrook tried to get the witness to admit that when the British mercenaries took over his but. he was not intimidated but even showed them how to extract water from a palm leaf. "He says," the interpreter told the court, "did they come from America to kill him or for him to teach them how to make palm wine.

LAUGHTER in court did not conceal the impression that prosecution vitnesses regarded the mercenaries as Americans, even though the majority — 10 of the 13 — were British subjects.
"There is always an undercurrent of humor at a murder trial," said Scot-tish advocate Raymond Fraser of Edinburgh. He contributed some himself by showing up in striped pants, velvet-collared Chesterfield jacket, pink bow tie and mutton chop whiskers to defend McKenzie, who decided at first sight to stick with his Angolan lawyer.

Declining pluralism

In colonial America a Church of England clergyman met a Quaker on the street. The clergyman was carrying a big Bible. He lifted it with both hands, said, "Friend, receive the Word of God," and struck Broad Brim on the head.

Recently in Long Beach a Quaker preached from the pulpit of an Episcopal church. Times have changed in

America's 200 years. In religion and almost everything else America is the most pluralistic nation in the world. But now the pluralism is showing signs of declining and blending. From the first America was a land of numerous jarring religious and po-litical sects. Most of the people who made that perilous voyage were in search of "freedom." By this they meant freedom for themselves, not for others. Some who had suffered the lash of oppression became more oppressive than the British Quakers and Baptists did not fare well in Puritan New England.

Some, notably Quakers and some of the Catholics, had a larger vision. Even the most liberal tended to think in terms of toleration rather than brotherhood

The sects proliferated. There were two reasons for this. People from the same country tended to flock together and maintain their own language and customs.

The other reason was intellectual. Most of the colonists believed earnestin ideas. They left the old countries because they could not accept the ideas. religious or secular, which were considered mandato-

And so naturally these dissenters dissented from each other. Churches splintered and splintered

Oddly, there were many colonists who were not religious — or not very religious. They tended to fall into two types. There were ignorant, lawless. cultureless people. And there were the keen intellectuals, like Thomas Jefferson.

One doesn't need to be much of a historian to emphasis. The foreign-language churches are dying out. The grandchildren of the founders no longer speak that way. Their language is English.

Protestants from "high" liturgical churches can now go to Roman Catholic Mass and almost feel they had not left home. Even the churches are becoming more liturgical. This writer attended a Communion in a Christian Church a denomination he once knew very well. The ocassion was dignified, musical, emotional, wellrehearsed - almost a different kind of Mass.

There is more and more work toward union. Time was, even in this century, when gentlemen of the cloth of the Methodist Episcopal Church North did not speak to their counterparts in the Meth-odist Episcopal Church South. Now there is the United Methodist Church. There are also the United Presbyterian Church, the United Church of Christ and many others.

At the enthronement of the present Bishop of Canterbury, two Roman Catholic cardinals attended.

Some Jews are fearful of this decline of pluralism. Many Jews are marrying Christians. And many are becoming secuignoring the temples and their message.

Many Christians too are worried. There are Catholics who, almost in defi-ance of the Pope, continue to celebrate the Latin Tridentine Mass and suggest that the Mass in English is heresy and blasphem'y

Other churches are going through similar stresses. After all, custom plays a part in the observance of religion. When an Epscopal priest abandoned the practice of carrying the American and Church flags in the processional, one lady proclaimed that he was unpatriotic and an atheist.

What is happening? Some intellectuals are reluctant to approve the changes completely. They argue that such blending requires the abandoment principles. There is. they say, a very real danger of "throwing out the baby with the bath." Change is inevitable in human history, but per haps in religion it should be brought about by "deliberate speed." Many older people resent having not only their customs, but their deepest convictions challenged by brash young fellows fresh out of seminary. And many of the young yearn to believe in something more solid and lasting than a rock festi-

It is impossible and undesirable to be Christian in the style of Jonathan Edwards or Martin Luther or Pope Gregory or even St. Paul. But it is important to realize we have ancestors and will have heirs. The desire for unity should not obliterate tradi tion.

WHO IS A CHRISTIAN?

We frequently receive letters denouncing certain religious groups as "not Christian." The Mormons and Jehovah's Witnesses are the most frequent targets of thse attacks.

This is abourd, almost obscene. Mormons and Witnesses are by their beliefs and works Christ-cen-

They are clearly outside. 'mainstream' Christianity. They are not Baptists or Presbyterians or Roman Catholics. Their doctrines are not acceptable to those in the "mainstream. So call them heretics.

Church courts once turned heretics over to the secular government "to be dealt with as mercifully as possible and without the shedding of blood." This meant buring at the stake.

Heresy today is not a crime. Elements in the Episcopal Church wanted to try the late Bishop Pike for heresy. The Church wouldn't do it. Once that sort of thing started. where would it stop? Bishop Pike, who had some (Continued on Page B-10)

IN MY FATHER'S HOUSE, by Corrie ten Boom, Revel, $6.95.

This book puts into deeper perspective the lives of the ten Boom family who defied the Nazis and suffered for doing so. That story is told in her book, "The Hiding Place," which tells of the ten Boom's efforts to hide Jews while the unspeak-able Nazis were dragging them off to the murder camps. That game couldn't go on in conquered Hol-land. The ten Booms were imprisoned, and only Corrie survived.

If you haven't read "The Hiding Place," or seen the movie - one of the best made in recent years - do so. It is a painful but beautiful experience which gives a deeper hope for the human race.

"In My Father's House," an honest autobiography, explains how there happens to be ten Booms in our often silly and cruel world.

Corrie was born in 1892 in Holland. (She is still going strong as an author and a missionary to the whole world.) Her father. Casper, was a watch-maker and clock-tender, People, ideas an inherited profession. He was highly respected but never got rich.

The ten Booms were extremely pious in an old-fashioned way. They had prayer sessions and Bible-readings daily. They serv-ed the church and churchrelated groups.

It sounds stuffy, but apparently wasn't. There was much quiet merriment. The house was always full of relatives and friends.

The duliness of exces-sive piety was avoided be-

Letter Woman's place

Dear Denise Kusel:

Your article "Woman's place is in ..." was greatly appreciated and enjoyed. It was a well paced and informative piece. In a vivid way it delineated the issues surrounding the controversy that is currently raging in the Episcopal Church. The insertion in the text of quotations was an effective device. I appreciated. also, your most accurate reporting of my remarks and the feelings behind them.

Numerous people in the parish had read the article and mentioned it to me on Sunday.

Many leaders shout 'Yes!'

By GEORGE W. CORNELL AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) -Some political commentators, on the air and in print, are saying that religion has no place in poli-ties. This is an old claim of some pietists who would restrict faith to the private sphere, but it's contrary to the teachings of the major historic churches.

It's also "non-Biblical and unthelogical," says the Rev. Dr. Donald Shriver, president of New York's Union Theological Seminary, the country's oldest interdenominational educational institution. Biblical faith includes both dimensions, the per-sonal and the social. This is way beyond debate in Christian thought today."
What brought the issue to the forefront is the emergence of religious elements in the race for the U.S. presidential nomination, with various political commentators saying it shouldn't be there. implying that the religious character of a man shouldn't count or be men-

"A MAN'S religion, or lack thereof, is his own business, writes historian-political analyst Arthur Schlesinger Jr., contending that "religion should stay out of politics."
"It's almost as if a poli-

Southern Baptist, cites the late great Lutheran theologian Reinhold Niebuhr as his favorite theologian, Schlesinger says this is reassuring because Nie-buhr insisted that simple 'pietistic moralism'' could not solve complex social problems, quoting Niebuhr as saying:

AMERICAN Christianity tends to be irrelevant to the problems of justice because it persists in presenting the law of love as a simple solution for every moral problem .. Christian moralism has made meager contributions to the issues of justice in modern society.

This, however, is prethe lapse in Christian functioning early in this century that Niebuhr so scathingly every day.

Although the program was organized for terminal cancer victims, the Kelly's soon discovered anyone who wanted to make each day count could be helped by this organization. Kelly sends out inspirational bulletins and goes on speaking tours advocating in a simple, sincere and persua-sive manner this basic fact about living; which is that one can indeed make each day count and enhance the joy and meaning of life. As one grows older, the days seem to be shorter, but by the practice of Kelly's inspired philosophy they grow sweeter. It pny they grow sweeter. It is a great technique to live by. Through the "Make Today Count" clubs which have sprung up all across the United States, new blessings come every day, and there is new meaning in the promise of Christ that He would be with us always - and everywhere.

(If you would like more information on the "Make Today Count" program, please write to Dr. Norman Vincent Peale in care of this newspaper.)

_____Need for patriotism _____

There are still frontiers

By MARK CLUTTER

"I have lived all over the world," said the Russian-American woman, " and I have only one thing to say to those Americans who hate or are contemptuous of this country. Go live in another country, any country, for six months. You will find out the truth about America. There is no better place in the world."

The speaker, Kyra Wayne, now an author, grew up in Leningrad. She had a good life there. She became an honored young musician and actress. In World War II she distinguished herself briefly as a fighting soldier. She has many fond memories of her youth and her beautiful Leningrad.

But she is an American! Like so many immigrants, she values what she has found here.

MANY CHURCHES will have special services on July 4, a week from Sunday. This is the Bicentennial, and we will probably all be a bit bored by patriotic observances by New Year's Eve.

But where is the patriotism? It seems to be at the lowest ebb in history.

Many, especially those who grew up in the 1960s, openly scorn the United States. Many others are numbly indifferent. And many who are truly patriotic display touches of sadness and cynicism. What is going wrong in our beautiful nation?

It is a little too glib to say "Vietnam" or "Watergate" or "sex scandals in Congress." Some people seem to think that wrong-headedness, corruption and sin are recent inventions.

THE HEART of the matter must be a loss of faith, a loss of vision. Hopefully this is temporary, a passing phase, the temporary pessimism of emotional exhaustion. To recapture patriotism it is wise to think of both the past and the future. Remember the little bands of colonists who clung desperately to strips of land between the ocean and the green hell of the wilderness. In the years between 1620 and 1776 they built a frontier civilization with arts, industry, commerce and learning. More important, there was a growing desire for independence, not just political but also for the buman spirit. The Founding Fathers framed a nation unlike any other that had ever been seen in the world.

There began the westering movement, the taming of a savage wilderness. Even today that has not been entirely completed.

The nation was wracked by three major wars—the Civil War, World War I and World War II. They were fought, not for loot or conquest but for the noble American ideal of freedom. (Unfortunately, it is not possible to be so idealistic about some of the "brushfine" wars.) fire" wars.)

In this century there has been more progress than ever before in a comparable period in history. A horse-drawn culture now travels by automobile and aircraft. Men have walked on the moon. Communication by telephone, radio and television is instantane-

But progress has been even greater in human relations. In 1900 illiteracy was widespread. Now everyone can get an education. In 1906 blacks, although technically free, were de facto slaves oppress-ed by tyrannical laws. Now they have civil liberties and the old prejudices are breaking down. In 1900 the health of people was wracked by smallpox, tuberculo-sis, typhoid and many other plagues, most of which are now eliminated or under control.

YES, AMERICA has great cause for pride.

But our history, up to now, should be considered just a beginning. Disease, injustice poverty, and ignorance are still very much with us. But unlike peoples of the past, we have the knowledge and science to overcome them. Only faith and will seem to be lacking.

Surely we will wake up. America still has many unconquered frontiers, and Americans are the sons of frontiersmen.

Poet Paul Engle said to his fellow Americans: "Plunge into that vaster and more savage West, "The unfamiliar country of your heart."

England to L.B.: Mary makes it in 8 years on cycle

Eight years ago, Mary Sievier left her Southampton, England, home with $200 stuffed in her haversack and a typewriter, tent and sleeping bag strapped to her

About 42,000 miles later she arrived in Long Beach — minus the motorbike — and 3,000 miles short of completing her goal of driving

The bike is sitting in a crate on the docks, where authorities insist it will remain until she can produce proper identification.

Meanwhile, she's staying at the North Long Beach home of Betty and Carter Hoffman.

She met Mrs. Hoffman's brotherin Arghenista and he gave her (her last port of call). Otherwise the

When Mary left England, she had a pocket full of addresses of people who would help her along the way.

"MY ORIGINAL plan was to go to Russia," the 34-year-old legal secretary said. "But the Russian authorities said it was too far for a woman to travel on a motorbike, especially when you putter-putter along at 35 miles per hour."

Mary, who stands 6-feet-tall, delicately smeared jam onto a piece of toast and looked up with a shy smile.

"Well, I wasn't about to let their lack of faith in my ability put a damper on my dreams, so I head-ed east."

After motoring through France, Italy and Yugoslavia, she turned her bike, a BSA Bantam 175cc, toward Turkey.

'I AVERAGED about 250 miles a day. The most I ever traveled was 400 miles. That was between Melbourne and Canberra (Australia). I don't plan to ever do that again. I was literally staggering by

"When I came to a place I especially liked, I'd stop and find a job ... of course being a legal secre-tary helped.

'I've been lucky about repairs - three flat tires and one major breakdown."

The breakdown occured in the middle of the Australian desert halfway between Perth and Darwin without water.

'I was rescued by a chap who came along in a Land Rover. I had been sitting in the road for five hours. I don't know what went wrong with the bike. It just stop-

"I only carry small tools," she continued. "I know how to fix the bike, I'm just not physically strong.

enough to pull it apart."

After leaving Long Beach, she will continue across the United States, inleuding stops at the Grand Canyon and a ride down the Missis-sipi River on the Delta Queen.

"I'm planning to spend a month back in England with my mother,' she said.

$476,000 tideland oil payoff accepted

Two agreements which will bring $476,241 to the City of Long Beach as payment of disputed claims for oil taken in 1973 from two tideland parcels have been approved by the City Council.

The disputed claims arose over prices to be paid for oil during the period when state and local government sales of crude oil were exempt from U.S. Cost of Living Council price controls.

One agreement, which covers oil taken from Parcel A, has been approved by Powerine Oil Co., Rothschild Oil Co. and Edgington Oil Co. Oil Co. The three firms had paid the city on the basis of the controlled price, rather than the higher price for exempt oil.

Under the agreement, Power-ine, Rothschild and Edgington will pay the city an additional $1 per barrel for oil received from Sept.1 to Sept. 30, 1973, and an additional $1.65 per barrel for oil received from Oct.1 through Oct.25, 1973.

The second agreement is with Powerine Oil Co., purchaser of the 8-per-cent increment of self-oil from the Long Beach Harbor Tidelands Parcel. The same situation involved prices per barrel paid in 1973, and the settlement is on the same additional amount per barrel. same additional amount per barrel.

South Bay service The Southern California Rapid Transit Southern Cambrida Again Transit District, at a cost of $32.7 million annually, Sunday will start a new 700-mile, 39-line bus service system in the South Bay area.

It will serve "every major em-ployment, educational, receational, shopping and social service center in the entire South Bay area," ac-cording to Patrick Barry, RTD

OF THE 37 current lines in the area, RTD has redesigned 24, according to Barry. Twenty-one com-munities with a total population of approximately 970,000 will be served, he said. Buses will run every 30 minutes in most areas, and every 60 minutes in less populated areas such as San Pedro, Carson and Wilmington.

According to Jack Gilstrap, RTD general manager, the new transit network calls for establish-ment of five new freeway lines into Verdes Peninsula, and a new minibus shuttle service and transfer terminal at L. A. International Air-

Barry said the new freeway lines will run more frequently than those in the past.

PERSONS riding buses which stop at the airport terminal will be spared the 15-minute jaunt through World Way loop. Instead, Barry explained, airport passengers will be discharged at a transfer terminal There they then can board the free minibuses, which run every eight to 10 minutes, to the terminals. Those boarding at the airport terminals must pay a 25-cent fare. Transfer to the main bus from the shuttle, however, is free.

The upgraded South Bay service is part of a total county effort by the RTD, said Barry. So far, the county has provided the system with $15.5 million dollars through

SUPERVISORS Kenneth Hahn and Pete Schabarum then said they also have produced their own budgets and would present the documents to the full board Monday. Schabarum said his financial plan would result in a tax-rate in-

Self-defense classes available to women

Department.

Classes will begin next week, and Rick Doyle, supervisor of performing arts for the department, said residents should register as soon as possible to be sure of excellment. of enrollment.

AMONG instruction offered will be aikido, modern dance, baton-twirling for drum majors and majorettes, and special dance classes for children in grades four through nine.

Brochures giving details on these and other classes offered throughout the city this summer are available at all Long Beach city libraries and playgrounds. The self-defense class for women 16 and older will be held Fridays from 1:30 to 3 p.m. at Whaley Park, 5620 E. Atherton St. A $15 fee will be charged for the 10-week course.

classes, said the former will include psychological training, as Aikido, a nonviolent martial art that focuses on mental and physical conditioning, will be offered to anyone 15 years and older and also will be held at Whaley Park. Sessions will be Fridays from 3 to 4:30 p.m., and the fee will be $15 for 10 weeks.

Modern dance will be open to persons 13 years and older, but is designed particularly for teen-agers, according to instructor Holly Kennedy. It will be taught Mondays from 3 to 4:30 p.m. in El Dorado Park clubhouse, 2800 Studebaker Road. The fee is $15 for 10 weeks.

Basic dance steps, ranging from cha cha to discotheque, will be offered boys and girls in grades four through nine in two classes Saturdays at El Dorado

THE FOURTH to sixth-grade group will meet from 1 to 2:30 p.m., followed by seventh to ninth graders. Nick Sidoti will teach both classes, and the fee for each will be $15 for 10 weeks.

Baton twirling instruction is scheduled at Wardlow Park, 3457 Stanbridge Ave.; Veterans Park, 101 E. 28th St., and Whaley Park, with Debbie Wheeler teaching all three. The fee for each is $15. Classes at Wardlow Park will be Tuesdays at 10 a.m. The Whaley Park class will meet Wednesdays at 1 p.m. and the Veterans Park group at 10 a.m. Thursdays. Classes are open to boys and girls eight through 17 years, and participants must pro-vide their own batons.

"The program has been very successful, and is of great benefit to the city," Creighton said.

The rehabilitation program was authorized by the City Council in authorized by the City Council in August, 1974, after Vice Mayor James H. Wilson and other council members expressed concern about the number of HUD-foreclosed dwellings which had been boarded

Under the program, the city purchases the property from HUD, and then sells it to a nonprofit corporation to rehabilitate and resell to moderate-income families.

To date, the program has been carried out in Long Beach exclusively with the Mead Redevelopment Corp., but Creighton emphasized that any other qualified nonprofit organizations which might be interested are invited to participate.

The City Council voted last Tuesday to authorize the city manager's office to sign contracts with HUD, the Mead Redevelopment Corp. and any similar nonprofit group.

Plumeria: the fragrant flower

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

We have had inquiries about Plumeria shrubs would & grow in Southern California? Folks who have visited Hawaii, or some of the other tropical islands can never forget the lovely fragrant flowers white, yellow, or red, and especially the leis made with those blossoms.

Some of the plants develop into small trees, all have stiff forking branches with long pointed leaves at both ends. However, milky juice is poisonous. Several varieties are leafless part of the year. The Singapore variety is more tender, green the year round, blossoms nearly the whole year.

Now ... as to growing them in Southern California: we've seen an eight foot tail shrub close to a south exposure wall in a garden in Anaheim. We saw several of them in a garden in San Pedro. (If the owners recognize our explanation about the plants, would they please write us. We'd like to take a picture of them.)

Water garden

How much water does a 2 vegetable garden require? The normal garden requirements for water are the equivalent of one inch of rainfall each week, and that if there is no rain the garden should receive a good soaking once a week. 5 allow the hose to run be-tween the furrows until the earth is soaked.

If not furrowed, a spray used. A thorough soaking weekly is preferable to several light waterings.

Callas

Callas that didn't bloom this year or flowered poorly may need to have the roots dug up and the soil rejuvenated by mixing in some compost.

You can treat with steer manure and bone meal, or a combination of superphosphate fertilizer mixed in hole bottom then prepared soil placed over it before replanting the good firm root.

Bluegrass

Bluegrass lawns behave differently in autumn when days shorten than in spring when the day lengthens. In one test, Merion bluegrass, a lawn favorite, produced foliage more than twice as long under 16 hours of light as under 8 hours. The leaves were a bit wider, too.

On the other hand, there was more branching under the shorter day length.

A farce with the force of four-barreled shotgun is the current Souh Coast Repertory theater's production of "In Fashion", a musical presentation of a play by 19th century French playwright George Freydeau. His play, based on the misadventures of three more-or-less-married couples and a couple of other characters, is vividly revi-talized in the musical version first presented by the Actor's Theater of Louisville in 1973.

Written by ATL's production director, Jon Jory, and perfectly embellished by composer Jerry Blatt and lyricist Lonnie Burstein, the play, as presented by SCR, takes pages out of Moliere and Oscar Wilde.

For reasons which do come understandable. other people persist in forcing money on the impecunious widows, creat-ing ever larger problems for them, living as they do in a financially straitened 'fool's paradise. Delightful to watch are the show's two central fig-ures, Thelma Hansen and rosalie, as, in a matter of speaking, they bounce off each other for three acts like Ping Pong balls racketing around one of those electronic saloon games. (For theatric purposes, the latter actress, formerly of Beaver, Pa., insists on spelling her first name with a small "r" while concealing the surname.)

Ms. Hansen's role is that of the senior widow, a slightly mad writer whose eccentricities blossom beautifully as the show progresses. On the other hand, the relic portrayed by rosalie is certifiably balmy as she strives mightly to stay at least one step ahead of the bailiffs, who might lock up the duo for debt.

Assisting strongly in the machinations is Esther Drake, their 80-year-oldplus maid whose acid tongue conceals the proverbial heart of gold. Other ladies in this actresses' showcase, are:

Elise Turner, a mysteri-ous young lady who apchores; Jo Gannaway, a British socialite; Gilberta Causey, in an expanded cameo view of a

YOUR

Your birthday today: Your options are wide open as you go through a transition stage. It's time to make serious decisions and to plan where you want to go. This year, you can sell almost anything. Just remember that you must be able to deliver whatever you promise. Today's natives like to try previously unknown methods, are discreet, keep their plans under wraps until ready to publicize.

Aries (March 21-April 19): Community functions go well. Take yourself out of the public eye; visit neglected personal friends. Catch up on corre-spondence.

Taurus (April 29-May 20): Somehow, no matter what you get involved in becomes over-ly stremuous or goes beyond what you expect. Associates are: xiremely touchy.

Genini (May 21-June 20): With just a little reflection, you see the wisdom of passing up expensive pleasures. Take out that restless urge in hobbies.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Don't let an optimistic atti-tude lead you into making un-likely deals. Enforce your pudget to weather highs and lows of spending moods.

Lee (July 23-Aug. 22): Plans go haywire fairly early be-cause of circumstances, and not a layse on your part. Get light exercise, then rest.

virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Social contacts are more important than appears at first glance. Be yourself and let the details take care of themselves, youngsters' progress provides inspiration.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Your sensitivity is keen, but you may be hearing more than you should. Let well enough alone. Give people room to come to their own conclusions.

Scorpie (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Plans seem made mainly for chapping, You're better off avoiding an emotional stake in one set procedure. Reflect where your best interests lie and adjust your course accordingly.

Sagitarins (Nov. 23-Dec. 21): Flends all have vigorous, superficially attractive ideas. Think twice before sparing in them. Spend time with a lew companions you know well.

Captera (Dec. 22-Jen. 19): The fact that you attempt to put together a coherent program sets you up for criticism. There is nothing sacred about appointments as such.

Aguarius (Jan. 24-Feb. 18): Spot misunderstandings, before they develop into squabbles. Alleviate mritating conditions. People react favorably to compliments on their work.

Pieces (Feb. 19-March 29): Follow traditional observances. It's so easy to overdo in recreation or to give in to expensive impulses. Slick to your budget and avoid extremes.

Senate votes energy billions

The Senate Friday approved a $7.1 billion bill to authorize a variety of energy programs, includ-ing new funds for the dispute-ridden breeder reactor program.

The bill approving programs for the Energy Research and Development Administration for the 1977 fiscal year was pass-

It now goes to a House-Senate conference committee to work out differences between it and a similar version passed by the House.

PASSAGE came after the Senate rejected amendments that would have made private utili-ties pay half of all future cost overruns on the Clinch River Breeder at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and that would have fightened safety requirements on the project.

Critics complained that although the price tag has risen from $699 million in 1972 to $1.95 billion now, the share of private utilities in the venture has re-mained at $257 million.

Sen. Floyd Haskell, D-Colo., argued unsuccessfully that these utilities should pay for 50 per cent of all further cost increases once the total cost edges above $2 billion.

But the Senate instead voted to absorb the latest cost overruns entirely with government funds, approving the full $171 million the Ford administration had sought for the project for fiscal 1977.

The Senate approved by voice vote an amendment giving Congress authority to reject any future sales by the United States of nuclear fuel or materials to nations such as India and Spain which have not signed the Nuclear Nonprolif-

It rejected, 77 to 5, a move by Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, that would have required the Defense Department to disclose the size of its nuclear arsenal.

GRAVEL'S amendment would also have halted production of plutonium for nuclear warheads and would have given Congress authority to set a ceiling on the number of nuclear devices held by the military.
Claiming the United States has enough retalia-tory strength to kill its enemies 40 times over and wipe out mankind, Gravel called his measure an effort to exercise control "over the excessive nu-clear ambitions of our military." Sen. John O. Pastore, D-

Overbooking passengers is a common airline prac-tice designed to make cer-tain that as many passengers as possible are put on each flight. The air-lines try to sell slightly more tickets than seats to protect themselves from passengers who make reservations and fail to show up. When all of the passengers holding reservations show up for a flight, the airline is unable to accommodate them. If it cannot put them on another flight arriving at the same destination within two hours of the flight on which they are scheduled, the airline is required by CAB regulations to refund their ticket price as a penalty and to give the passenger transportation on another flight to their destination.

A fire at a Compton auto accessories company Friday caused damage estimated at $100,000 and a County Fire Department captain was injured while cleaning up after the

In a related development, Rep. Otto Passman, D-La., said Ford has agreed to a compromise to end his last unresolved foreign-aid fight with Con-gress, on a different $6 billion foreign-aid appropria-tion bill. He said Ford has agreed to provide an extra $275 million in military aid for Israel.

In debate on the bill approved Friday, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said Senate and House conferees who drafted the compromise had met the major criticisms express-ed by the President about the previous bill. They included a $9 billion annual ceiling on arms exports and authority for Congress to cut off aid by concur-rent resolution, not subject to presidential veto, to countries consistently violating human rights or discriminating against Americans for racial or religious reasons.

The new bill allows for presidential vetoes of congressional aid cutoffs. Sen. Hubert Humphrey,

School bill stalls budget

Deadlock delays lawmakers' recess

SACRAMENTO (AP) -Assembly Republicans and dissident Democrats defeated a $250-million school finance bill late Briday and thwarted Democratic leaders' attempt to pass a $12.86-bil-lion state budget. did not vote for it.

The deadlock forced legislators to delay their scheduled five-week recess until at least Monday. The school aid bill got a 52-0 Assembly vote but fell two votes short of the needed two-thirds majority in the 80-member house. The Senate earlier passed its own $262-million school aid bill and then adjourned as the Assembly lingered in a stalemate.

The Senate-passed bill met Assembly Republicans' demands for more money — $18 per pupil — in the schools' foundation program, which places few restrictions on spend-

The Assembly bill ties up more of the money in special aid programs such as bilingual education.

Teacher groups and school boards backed the Senate version of the bill, which would make more money available for salaries.

REPUBLICANS credited Gov. Brown's new willingness to approve $250 million more for schools to their resist-ance on the budget.

U.S. tots ailing after radiation at embassy

MOSCOW (AP) — Two 3-year-old American girls living in the U.S. Embassy, which has been subjected to microwave radiation, have been evacuated to the United States with unusual blood problems, informed sources said

An embassy spokesman confirmed the evacuation earlier this week but would give no other details. The girls were sent home as investigation continued into possible medical effects of the radiation, which American officials have said is part of Soviet electronic surveillance of the embassy.

The radiation has continued despite

Despite evacuation of the two girls, American sources insisted that no medical problems have yet been found which can be related to the radiation.

Judges bar Nancy's dogs

States Supreme Court, Nancy Dukes cannot sell hot dogs from a pushcart in the New Orleans French Quarter.

She hasn't been in the business long enough.

The court decided, 8 to 0 on Friday, that New Orleans had the right to pass a law that barred pushcart vendors from the picturesque areas and that it also could exempt vendors who had continually operated the same business for more than eight years.

ONLY TWO vendors, one selling hot dogs and the other ice cream, fell under that "grandfather provision." Nancy Dukes didn't. She had had her cart in the

The Supreme Court disagreed. New Orleans had a legitimate right, the court said, to pass a law "to preserve the appearance and custom valued by the Quarter's residents and attractive to tourists.'

Brown stays lone holdout

SACRAMENTO (AP) - Gov. Brown said Friday Jimmy Carter "appears certain to be nominated" as the Democratic presidential candidate and added that, if he wins, Carter would have his enthusiatic support in the Brown, who earlier said he would support the Democratic ticket, did not concede, however, and re-mains the lone holdout still actively in the Demostill actively in the Demoeratic presidential race against the former Georgia governor.

Brown, in a nationally televised speech, suggested the next president should put public advocates on multinational company boards of directors, and exempt 25 per cent of the American peo-ple from paying federal income taxes.

A Brown aide, Tom Quinn said the tax exemption proposal would cost about $5 billion.

THE 30-MINUTE speech was picked up by 203 of 212 affiliated stations, reaching roughly 11 million people, according to Brown aides.

They said it cost the governor's campaign $80,-367 for network time, plus up to $15,000 for the speech taping Tuesday in Los Angeles.

In his remarks, Brown repeated statements he has made that he recog-nizes "the arithmetic" showing Carter with a commanding delegate lead. An Associated Press delegate survey gives Carter the 1,505 delegates he needs for a first-ballot victory.

In his speech, Brown said the next president should carry out these proposals:

—A program to rebuild U.S. cities. Otherwise, he warned, U.S. armies will be needed in U.S. cities to keep peace in another five years.

Sniffing seen top drug-abuse problem

By ISAAC A. LEVI

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A panel of 76 scientists from 11 countries has concluded that the sniffing of solvents such as model-airplane glue is rapidly becoming the No. 1 drug abuse problem throughout the world.

They said at a meeting here this week that it is potentially worse than heroin, tobacco, alcohol and marijuana.

The symposium was organized jointly by the U.S. National Institute of Drug Abuse and its Mexican counterpart, the Centro de Estudios en Farmacodependencia, to find out just how serious the problem is.

Sniffing of such poisonous volatile solvents as glue, benzene, gasoline, methyl or "blue" alcohol and paintthinner is mostly done by children of both sexes aged 5 to 16, but it is rapidly spreading among adults, the panel

produce anemia, and damage the kidneys and liver as

No one knows for sure how widespread the sniffing addiction is. But authorities both in the United States and Mexico have launched a series of surveys in cooperation with private industry in order to find out.

A preliminary study shows that about 1 per cent of juveniles in urban centers in the United States use inhalants. The majority of these are among hard-core

One study conducted in a poor neighborhood showed that seven out of 100 children sniffed solvents once "to ' and at least two of these seven went on to use it regularly.

The findings indicated that the problem of juvenile sniffing is probably worst in Japan, where children openly inhale solvents in amusement parks. Most use plastic bags for "a better kick" and many of these youngsters die of suffocation. Sniffing abuse is very serious in Mexico and is rapidly spreading in so-called Third World countries, according to the panel. Belsasso estimates more than 25,000 children are regular inhalers in Mexico City alone, a metropolis of 14 million people.

All the child "sniffers" surveyed in the few studies made up to now in Mexico, the United States and elsewhere suffered from loss of appetite, undernourishment and damage to internal organs.

Dr. Sidney Cohen, director of the Neuropsychiatric Institute at the University of California at Los Angeles, said: "Alcohol is commonly cited as the universal and most readily available infoxicant. In fact it is not. The group of industrial solvents and aerosols are even more widely distributed, especially when gasoline is included.

They're the most accessible of all abused chemicals and plants." The meeting in Mexico City was the first step taken at the international level in dealing with the problem. The scientists limited themselves to exchanging ideas, which they will eventually incorporate in recommendations they make to their respective governments.

U.S. sues to end lawyers' ad ban

WASHINGTON — The Justice Department Friday accused the American Bar Association of conspiring to accused the American Bar Association of conspiring to violate the antitrust laws by unreasonably prohibiting lawyers from advertising their fees. In a civil suit filed in U.S. District Court, the government charged that ABA advertising prohibitions restrain price competition among lawyers and deprive persons needing legal services the opportunity to obtain information about the costs and availability of legal services. The complaint also said lawyers have been restrained from making legal services readily available, such as through the development and advertising of legal clinics and prepaid dévelopment and advertising of legal clinics and prepaid legal service plans. The court was asked to declare illegal these long-standing restrictions which are contained in the ABA's Code of Professional Responsibility.

Sludge clean-up

ATLANTIQUE, N.Y. — President Ford Friday assigned 100 Job Corps trainees to help clean up beaches on Long Island that were covered with debris in the past week. But the President did not make Nassau and Suffolk counties eligible for federal disaster aid for the clean-up. Almost all beaches on Long Island were open Friday, while Jones Beach State Park is expected to open most of its beaches Saturday. Meanwhile, the debate continued over whether an explosion at a Nassau sludge holding tank early this month had contributed a significant share of the "floatable" material that later washed up on the beach. Vet hiring strengthened

WASHINGTON — After 18 months of preparation, the Labor Department issued strengthened regulations Friday requiring federal contractors to hire and pro-mote disabled veterans and Vietnam era veterans. Contractors continue to be required to list all their job openings with state employment services and to file quarterly reports regarding employment of disabled veterans and Vietnam era veterans. The regulations apply in all cases of contracts or subcontracts amounting to $10,000 or more. They require state employment services to give veterans preference in job referrals.

Prison mandate

ALBANY, N.Y. - Bipartisan agreement on a bill that allows family court judges to mandate a minimum confinement of two years for juveniles who commit the most serious crimes of violence was announced Friday. The bill has the support of Gov. Hugh Carey, and quick passage is expected in both houses. The agreement on a controversial issue that has been festering for most of the year is one of the more important of the last minute compromises that are expected as legislators balance their urgent desire to end the session within a few days with an equally strong need for some accomplishments on which to base their re-election campaign.

Premier Piotr Jaroszewicz told parliament Friday the government has rescinded the price action and "also decreed prices should be maintained" at their 1970 levels while the matter is studied. At a tractor factory just outside Warsaw workers left their meeting and swarmed onto railroad tracks, halting some trains into the capital. No other violent incidents were reported. The government said the price bikes were required because of expensive grain and fodder imports and poor harvests the past two

There was bloody rioting in December 1970 when Wladyslaw Gomulka — who had been Communist Party chief since 1956 — ordered broad price increases. Workers seized factories and when Gomulka sent soldiers and police against the demonstrators 46 persons were killed and 1,165 were injured. The Communist hierarchy accused Gomulka of "serious mistakes" and removed him, maming Edward Glerek to succeed him. Glerek immediately ately declared a price freeze and has maintained it even though the average wage has almost doubled since 1970.

ROME - Italy's constitutional court struck a blow for both women's liberation and married couples Friday in a tax ruling. It declared invalid a law that added a wife's salary to her husband's wages for figuring their income taxes. The court said they could file individual returns. A 1958 law denied the wife an independent economic status for tax purposes. It also frequently boosted working couples into higher tax brackets be-cause of the combined wages. Some couples, seeking to avoid the higher taxes, obtained legal separations so they could file individual, and lower, tax returns.

Under state law, anyone who sells a car is required to file a notice of sale or transfer with the DMV, listing the new owner's name and address, but since you don't know either, this procedure won't really release you from all liability. However, if a ticket is issued against the car, you should be able to explain the situation in court, said a DMV spokesman. He suggested that you take a copy of your receipt to your local DMV office and fill out a notice of sale anyway. "Perhaps one of the fill out a notice of sale anyway. If, however, the notice of sale doesn't list the owner's name and address, the DMV will contact the original owner.

When the license tags on the car you sold expire, the new owner may be cited, and to get new tags, he'll have to obtain the pink slip and reregister the car.

Dial-A-Ride

In January the Diamond Cab Co. along with the city of Long Beach inaugurated a special bus service for handicapped persons. As this service has become more popular, there is a need for extra buses. Long Beach promised to add some buses by July, and now I've learned that the city officials are welshing on that promise. Why is it that the city can find the money for such investments as the Queen Mary and the Grand Prix but can't fund an enterprise beneficial to its citizens? M.B., Long Beach.

"It was just an unfounded rumor that new buses would be added in July," said William Farell, general manager of the city-owned Long Beach Public Transpormanager of the city-owned Long Beach Public Transportation Co., which administers the Dial-A-Ride plan. (The service is operated by the Diamond Cab Co. on a contract basis.) Farell said the city plans to order more buses, probably within a year, but it takes at least six months from the date the order is placed to get one of the specially equipped minibuses. He concedes that the city's six Dial-A-Ride vans are operating near capacity most of the time, but he still thinks it's premature to request city funds for new buses at this time. "In the near future, we will be evaluating the service and will decide how many additional buses we may need," he said. $200,000 blaze at refinery

A 50,000-gallon oil storage lank in the center of the Atlantic Richfield Company's Carson refin-ery caught fire Friday evening and burned for about 35 minutes before county firemen brought it under control.

The fire, which spewed dense black smoke over the northern edge of Long Beach, forced the closure of the San Diego Freeway between the Carson Street offramp and the Long Beach Freeway for about 45 minutes.

A fire department spokesman said no other tanks were threatened, but the freeway was closed as a safety precaution.

Thirteen fire companies were called to the scene at 1801 E. Sepulveda Blvd., at about 7:20 p.m., where they used a "log ma-chine" to light the blaze. The log was used, a spokesman said, because of the danger of toxic fumes released when water is used to smother burning oil. The machine creates a layer of steam around the fire, starving it of necessary oxygen, the spokesman said. A small explosion reportedly started the fire, but the cause was not determined.

Flames, witnesses said, were visible from the San Diege, Harbor and Terminal Island freeways

Damage was estimated at about $20,000.

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown's proposal for an unprecedented one-time $70a-month pay hike for most state employes won final legislative approval Friday.

THE SENATE voted 28-I to approve Assembly amendments a few hours later, sending the bill to the governor.

CANNERY WORKERS protesting a court settlement giving women and racial

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)

— Hundreds of camery

from the San Joaquin Valley to protest a court set-tlement they claim cost many of them their senior-ity status through "re-verse discrimination."

Implementation of the settlement began last week. It covers 74 food-processing plants in Northern California, sets hiring quotas for women and minorities in higher-paying jobs, and requires training programs for them. It also awards $4.9 million, which will go million which will go mainly toward back pay for victims of past discrimination, according to a MALDEF lawyer.

LaForce said if the set-tlement is dropped, the workers would not file a reverse discrimination suit as had been anticipated earlier.

The agreement was supposed to settle the class action civil rights suit by MALDEF and individual women plaintiffs against the Teamsters Union and the cannery industry.

"But the people in the class didn't realize what was in the class action," LaForce said in an interview. "What we have is a total reshuffling of the deck as far as seniority goes, and nobody is very happy about it."

Implementation of the settlement in the canneries has not gone smoothly, according to workers and cannery supervisors.
'It has caused a tremendous amount of anguish," said the manager of a Stanisland of a Stanislaus County food plant. Louis Garcia, who said he's worked in the Hunt-Wesson plant in Hayward for 21 years, claimed his seniority status has slip-ped from No. 87 to No. 305 because of the seltlement.

One worker, Theodore W. Wright, 36, of Hunt's Oakdale plant, committed suicide on Father's Day reportedly after brooding over being knocked off the year-around work list.

LaForce said many minority members and women seasonal workers were upset because they did not want to be elevated to the higher-paying, year-around jobs.

MALDEF attorney Joel Contreras admitted there had been a lot of confusion over the settlement and blamed "rumors" that women are now required to work full time, instead of seasonally, for drawing-out the women protesters.

'A lot of the women think they have to work year-around," he said. "That is not correct. All we are advancing is the opportunity. If they want it, they can take it."

Contreras said the better-paying, year-around jobs were staffed "over-whelmingly" with white

Southern California counties to continue a nowvoluntary joint agency for fighting smog was sent to Gov. Brown's desk Friday. The measure by Assemblyman Jerry Lewis, R-Highland, would establish in law the Southern California Air Pollution Control District, which was formed last year by Los Angeles, Orange, River-side and San Bernardino counties. The bill was approved Friday by the Assembly, 44-21, a day after it cleared the Senate. "The district exists on a voluntary basis because this legislation exists," said Assemblyman Walter Ingalls, D-Riverside, a supporter of the bill. has been reported that Los Angeles County supervisors are thinking of dropping out of the SCAPCD. Lockheed chief set to Ford 'deplores Agnew re testify on Japan deals

His legal appeals ex-hausted, A. Carl Kotchian, the former head of Lock-heed Aircraft Corp., was sworn in Friday in Los Angeles federal court for a hearing in which Tokyo prosecutors seek answers to more than 500 questions about the aerospace firm's multimillion-dollar payments in Japan.

Kotchian, appearing relaxed and carrying a bulging briefcase, smiled and posed goodnaturedly as he walked through a crowd of Japanese reporters and photographers after the two-hour session. His attorney, William Schweitzer of San Francissaid that although Kotchian was sworn in, the session was devoted to procedural questions and that his client did not testi-

KOTCHIAN, who de-clined to make any comment, was ordered to appear again Monday. The appearance of the former Lockheed vice chairman and chief executive officer came after two weeks of legal maneuvers in which his lawyers sought to block the proceedings. U.S. Supreme Court Justice William Rehnquist Thursday turned down an appeal for reinstatement of a temporary stay of the hearing Kotchian's attorneys had Kotchian and two other Lockheed figures, J.W. Clutter, former president of Tokyo-based Lockheed Aircraft Asia Ltd., and A.H. BRITISH PREMIER James Callaghan greets U.S. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and U.S. Ambassador to Britain Anne Armstrong in London Friday.

United West can beat Reds, says Kissinger

New York Times Service

LONDON - Henry A. Kissinger, in what may have been his final major sadress in Europe as Secretary of Stale, said Friday that the Western countries did not have to fear competition from the Communist world so long as they had the will "to stay together and to stay the course."

"We have nothing to fear from competition," Kissinger said. "If there is a military competition, we have the strength to defend our interests. If there is an economic competition, we won it long ago. If there is an ideological competition, the power of our ideas depends only on our will to uphold them."

In his largely philosoph ical address to the Insti-tute of Strategic Studies, Kissinger was optimistic about the future. He seemed eager to close out his public record on Europe on a positive note.

Although Kissinger has not flatly ruled out the possibility of his returning to office if President Ford is elected in November, his aides said this speech

as secretary of State.

In the speech, Kissinger also justified the policy of detente — and did not shrink from using the word — but warned the Soviet Union anew that it would not use idealogical. could not use ideological competition as a mask for spreading its power into Angola or other African 'We cannot agree that ideology alone is involved when Soviet power is ex-tended into areas such as southern Africa in the name of national liberation or when regional or local instabilities are generated or exploited in the name of proletarian internationalism," he said. Kissinger also repeated his concern about allowing Communists to take part in Western governments, but added that the West must take steps to make necessary social and eco-nomic reforms and eliminate legitimate grievances that play into Communist hands.

In a sense, Kissinger, who worked for several weeks on this speech with his top aides, seemed determined to ensure that he would be remarked more for these remarks than for the April 1973 speech in New York when he startled the Europeans by calling for a "new Atlantic Charter." That "charter" address touched off months of de-bate and irritation on both sides of the Atlantic. Some Europeans, particularly the French, charged that the United States was trying to impose its views on Western Europe. The French sought to use the "charter" speech as a rallying point for the formation of a more united European community to balance against the Americans.

Since then, relations have improved and there has been much more con-sultation between Washington and European capitals.

"There is no longer any question that Europe and the United States must cooperate closely, under whatever label, and that the unity of Europe is essential to that process,"

U.S. seeks economic unity in helping poorer nations

WASHINGTON (AP) -The United States next week will seek closer cooperation among indus-trial powers in facing the world's economic problems, especially in negoti-nomic problems, U.S. officials will argue at a meeting in Puerto Rico, the solutions may be unworkable or unacceptable, or both. At stake, officials say, may be the future wellbeing of industrial nations.

The major economic problems facing industrial nations will be discussed Sunday and Monday at a two-day economic summit conference in Puerto Rico called by President Ford. Besides Ford, leaders of Britain, France, West Germany, Japan, Italy and Canada will attend.

They will meet under heavy security at the secluded and plush Dorado Beach Hotel, 17 miles west tions by pro-independence groups are likely, but probably will be kept well away from meeting sites. In addition to Ford, the meetings will be attended by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, Treasury Secretary Wil-liam E. Simon and Alan Greenspan, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

The agenda will include negotiations with poor na-tions, which will take place in Paris later this year, the pace of recovery from recession, the special problems of Italy and Britain, and trade relations with Communist nations.

The leaders will be expected to ratify an agree-ment worked out in Paris earlier this week at meet-ings of the 24-nation Organization for Econom-Cooperation and Development (OECD). That agreement commits members to a slow but steady economic growth in years ahead. U.S. officials say the setback in Nairobi resulted in large part from the failure of industrial nations to consult ahead of time on the position they wanted to take.

WASHINGTON — Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana said Friday he will ask the Senate to strike from the pending tax bill a provision that could benefit members of his family.

Long is chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, where the pending tax bill was written.

In a statement to the Senate, Long said that when the provision was presented to the committee as an amendment to a tax bill previously passed by the House, "no one could have known that the amendment might have benefitted my children or other relatives."

The fact that the tax bill contained two provisions that could confer major financial benefits on Long's children, his nieces and nephews and grandnieces and grandnephews was disclosed Friday by The New York Times.

The Times said that the tax-savings that members of the Long family would realize, if the provisions became law, could reach hundreds of thousands of dollars, over the years, and possibly millions.

Long did not dispute the accuracy of The Times story in any respect.

Instead, he simply said he had not known that the bill would benefit his family and defended the propriety of the legislation in correcting a problem he said Congress never intended to create. He said the problem exists "all over the country."

LONG'S STATEMENT appeared to be addressed to only one of two different provisions in the pending bill that appear to benefit his family.

This is the provision that would prevent the continued use of the 22 per cent oil and gas depletion allowance in cases where income from oil drilling was received by a trust, and state law or the trust agree-ment required the depletion allowance to be allocated to intent required the depiction anowance to be allocated to the trust. Louisiana law contains such a requirement and this provision would clearly affect all of the many trusts that exist for the benefit of various descendants of Long's father, the late Louisiana governor and senator, Huey Long.

Long did not mention another provision of the bill that would apparently affect some of the Long family drusts. This amendment provides that the depletion allowance will not be discontinued—as it will be in other cases of changes of ownership of oil properties—if a change of ownership occurs solely because of the if a change of ownership occurs solely because of the death, birth, or adoption of a beneficiary of the trust.

long's commitment to "insist that the language that could favorably affect my relatives be stricken" thus apparently covered only the first provision.

It appeared probable, from the comments made at the end of Long's speech, that the basic amendments might not be stricken from the bill.

Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., who had offered the two amendments, said that he did not believe it was fair to remove them from the bill since they corrected real problems that Congress had not intended to create.

"IT WAS NOT the intention to give anybody a windfall," Dole said.

He characterized The New York Times article as "a cheap shot that didn't hit anyone and didn't burt

Long said that it would be "all right with me" if the amendments could be changed so that none of their benefits would apply "to any of my children." He did not, at this point in the debate, suggest wording any amendment so that it would exclude his nieces and nephews, or other relatives, in addition to his two daughters.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., who is sometimes called the conscience of the Senate, said he did not think it would be fair for Long's family to be excluded from the benefits of the bill.

Sen. Floyd K. Haskell, D-Colo., a tax-reform advocate, who has fought Long on many of the provisions of the pending bill, said that there had been "nothing devious" done by Long in connection with the proposals. "He is a man of honor," Haskell said.

WASHINGTON - FBI officials here are portraybureau's New York field office as a "runaway office" which carried out widespread illegal break-ins and burglaries against political dissidents and so-called domestic intelliantiwar groups for seven-years after the late FBi Director J. Edgar Hoover ordered a halt to such practices.

FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley has insisted re-peatedly since taking of-lice three years ago that gence burglaries were stopped in 1966. But the York News was told that not even the top bu-reau officials who briefed Kelley were aware that about 20 agents in the New York office were continu-ing the break-ins.

Justice Department sources said that William Gardner, a lawyer in the Civil Rights Division who is heading the investiga-tion, has offered immunity to FBI agents who actually pulled the "black bag jobs" if they reveal who gave the orders.

The normal procedure prior to the 1966 cutoff was for Hoover himself, or an assistant director in charge of intelligence, to give the order. Frequently, the message would be passed over the telephone to the field office involved with no written record Kelley was able to find only 238 domestic intelligence break-ins between 1942 and 1968 in the

Until recently, John Ma-lone headed the New York FBI office. He is a defend-ant in a civil suit filed by the Socialist Workers Party. The bureau has admitted more than 90 burglaries of the party's Manhattan headquarters over a six-year period. But, according to Justice Department sources, just who gave the go-abead from Washington has been baffling Gardner. Two former FBI intelligence chiefs flatly deny that they were aware of, or ordered, any domestic break-ins after 1966. One FBI source said: "They're going to swing in New York. It was unauthorized. They had a greated."

They had no go-ahead."

"It was wholesale breaking and entering," this source said. "One guy pulled at least 100 jobs."

One retired FBI black-

bag expert, assigned to New York, has told friends that virtually his entire responsibility for 20 years was black-bag jobs. He frequently would receive commendations, including bonuses, which would be duly noted in the FBI's house organ," Investiga-tor." Although the reason for the meritorious service was not detailed, keen readers of the magazine knew that another blackbag job, either for domes-tic or foreign intelligence, had been accomplished. The break-ins to obtain financial and membership information, are believed to have stopped when Kel-ley took over. But repeat-ed efforts by Kelley to find out the extent of break-ins brought reports of lack of Some Keiler advisers have been asking him to replace his top aides, virtually all Hoover hold-overs, because they bave kept him in the dark to avoid embarrassment to themselves. Audit of House committees set

By RICHARD D. LYONS New York Times Service

WASHINGTON - Rep. Frank Thompson, the new chairman of the scandaltainted House Administration Committee, Friday ordered an audit of about $30 million in expenses of committees including his own.

Thompson said the audits would be made under his direction by accountants on loan from the General Accounting Office, the investigations arm of Congress.

The New Jersey Demo-crat, who formally re-placed Rep. Wayne L. Hays of Ohio only two days ago as committee chairman, said the audits could include those of the records of years prior to 1978 and might involve the office accounts of some Congressmen.

BUT HE added that he had "no intention of comb-ing through the records of 435 members.''

Thompson's announcement came only a day after Rep. John J. Rhodes Arizona, the minority leader, made a request to begin at once a complete audit of the accounts of "the whole House" in order "for Congress to re-gain the trust of the people."
Thompson said he had started inquiring into the feasibility of an audit several days before Rhodes's statement, and had conferred about the necessity for examining the books with Speaker Carl Albert of Oklahoma and Rep. Thomas J. O'-Neill of Massachusetts, the majority leader.

THE Democratic leadership, mindful that national elections are less than five months away, has been seeking to damp-en Republican charges of scandal in the House. The leadership drew up a series of reform proposals aimed at lessening the potential for chicanery by streamlining the accounting systems used by the House, making the records will be to insure that the books are in good order, to establish facts where they may be in doubt, and to identify any basic weaknesses in the accounts system of the House."

Asked if the purpose of the audit was to review the performance of Hays as committee chairman, Thompson said: "There's an obvious connection, but the audit isn't directed at Mr. Hays or this commit-

But he said a cursory examination of the books showed that the name of Elizabeth Ray was missing from "four monthly reports of the committee" at a time when "she was in fact on the payroll."

MISS RAY has charged, and Hays has denied, that she had been hired as a clerk for the committee at a salary of $14,000 a year to perform no duties other than to serve as his mistress. While conceding a liaison with Miss Ray. Hays has stated that she did in fact perform meaningful work for the committee. But Thompson said the fact that the Ray records were missing, which he attributed to either cierical error or a deliber-ate omission," did not mean that the Administration Committee was going to open an investigation into the Ray affair. Her charges already are under investigation by the Justice Department and the House Committee Standards of Official Conduct.

Less than 50 cents of every dollar you spend to buy

Less than 50 cents of every dollar you spend to buy a new house goes to pay for the cost of the house itself, according to the National Association of Home Builders.

Government figures show that the average purchase price of a new home during May was $46,300. That was a decrease of $2,200 from the previous month's record-high, but the figure still was more than double the level of 10 years ago.

Where does all the money go?
The home builders group took a $38,500 house and, hased on preliminary estimates of 1975 costs, provided a breakdown. Remember: individual expenses vary wideby depending on location, the amount of insulation or heating needed, local regulations, etc.

Michael Sumichrast, chief economist for the association, said labor and materials still are the single biggest expense in a new house, accounting for $18,617, or 48.4 per cent of the cost. (In 1969, labor and materials accounted for 54.6 per cent of the average purchase

Labor and materials include everything from appliances - at $274 - to lumber and millwork at $4,610. Again, individual expenses can vary widely. The $274 appliance figure would include only a barc minimum.

The next single biggest item — and one which has been rising steadily — is land which in 1975 cost $8,280 or 2:5 per cent. The cost of the linaucing for the builder was $4,081 or 10.6 per cent; profit and overhead were $4,620 or 12 per cent and other expenses, including items such as sewer inspection fees, accounted for $2,902 or 7.5

ACCORDING TO A 1972-73 study done for the home ACCORDING TO A 1972-13 study done for the home builders, the contractor's net profit before taxes was about 5 per cent of the selling price of a new house.

While there isn't too much you can do about the rilsing costs, there are ways of cutting worry about problems after purchase. The home builders association, acting on recom-mendation by Virginia Knauer, special assistant to the President for consumer affairs, established a Home Owners Warranty (HOW) program two years ago.

Since then, according to a study by the consumer affairs division of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the HOW program has spread to 35 states with 3,000 participating builders. Fifty thousand houses

Boston has three such private schools with enrollments between 200 and 400. The schools were accredited by city officials following a court order to desegregate public schools

The court's decision, Atkins said, provides the means for legal action against officials who allowed those segregated private academies to exist.

Private school officials in Mississippi, meanwhile, say they don't expect large numbers of blacks to try to enter segregated schools. O.B. CROW AGENCY, Mont. (AP) - Indians and whites stood on the battlefield where Sioux and Cheyenne warriors wiped out Lt. Col. George Custer's 7th Cavalry force 100 years ago Friday and called forpeace and harmony among all Americans. "We cannot rectify the mistakes of the past, but we can resolve that they not be repeated," said Hal Stearns, director of the Montana Bicentennial Administration. The ceremony, attended

War's worst battle rages in Lebanon

BEIRUT (AP) - The beinur (Ar) — The bloodiest battle of Leba-non's civil war raged un-checked Friday as Pales-tinian guerrillas and rightwing Christians fought over two hillside refugee camps in southeastern Beirut.

A radio broadcast by the Christian Phalange party charged that Libyan members of the Arab peacekeeping force were fighting beside the Pales-tinians in the four-day battle. It said four Libyans "wearing green berefs on their heads and white peace dove" shoulder patches were killed during a diversionary attack on the Christian area of Ein Rummanneh

Some 400 Libyans with blue berets bearing a broad green ribbon had joined 400 Syrian soldiers of the peacekeeping force earlier at checkpoints at the airport and a major highway on the southern edge of Beirut.

Christian militias bat-tling left-wing Moslems and Palestinians have op-posed Libyan participation in the Arab truce force, saying Libya is one of the chief backers of the leftists in the 15-month-old civil war.

The battle triggered another exchange between Moslem and Christian gunners in central Beirut. They sent Soviet-made American-made 155mm cannon shells slamming into apartment buildings in both sectors of the divided Lebanese capital.

Spokesmen for warring factions estimated that more than 10,000 rockets and howitzer and mortar shells were fired in the area since fighting erupted Tuesday

The fighting touched off numerous fires that gutted many factories and left Beirul without electricity for the fourth day. All bakeries were closed, and the city was without bread. Telephone and Telex communications with the rest of the world were also cut.

The leftist-controlled Beirut radio and the Christians' Radio Amehit, monitored in Nicosia, Cyprus, reported fires raging and scores of casualties. The Palestinians said their forces beat back relentless Christian attempts to overrun the refugee camps of Tal Zaatar and Jist el-Basha in savage fighting:

"The bodies of the victims litter the hills and slopes around the area," a spokesman said. "No one can assess the death toll. The ambulances have been unable to reach the battle zone since the battle broke out, and the bodies of Palestinian and Lebanese victims are rotting."
He said the battle was "the most victous" since the civil war broke out in April 1975. The war has wrecked Lebanon's once-thriving economy and taken more than 28,000 lives. Security forces and hospitals reported more than 150 persons killed in 24 hours, but the figure did not include casualties from the Tal Zaatar area.

The two camps are the last leffist stronghold in Christian-held eastern Bei-rut and control access between the city and the Christians mountainous heartland, known as Mt. Lebanon, to the north.

Spokesmen for the Christian militias said they had reinforced 5,000 attacking troops with 1,000 more to capture both camps.

cess to Mt. Lehanon under the mercy of the Palestin-ians and their Lebanese Communist allies," said a spokesman for Interior Minister Camille Chamoun's National Liberal Party militia.

The guerrillas counterattacked against the large Christian suburb of Ein Rumanneh in southern Beirut. They said they punched 200 yards into the residential area in a "fullscale scorched-earth operation to ease Christian problems stemming from the radiation. Watson and Pollack left for Washington on Thursday without disclosing the results of their tests.

One explanation for the microwaves is that the Soviets beam them at the cmbassy to counteract U.S. eavesdropping devices there. However, a scientist connected with an earlier investigation of the mysterious microwave signals has said he did not rule out a possibility that the radiation is intended to cause a "suppressive effect" on embassy personnel.

Secret American investigation of the microwaves goes back to the early 1960s, American officials have said, but the problem has been publicly discussed only for about the last six months.

of the Oakland A's filed a $10 million damage Sult against baseball Commissioner Bowie

The suit, filed in U.S. District Court, charges The sout, nice in U.S. District court, enarges Kuhn with violating antitrust laws, conspiring to deprive Finley of his rightful money from the sale of his players and several civil rights-violations, said Finley's attorney, Neil Papiano of Los Angeles.

Also hamed as defendants were the American League, the National League, the Major League Executive Council, the Boston Red Sox and the New York Yankees.

The suit stems from Kuhn's cancellation of the sale by Finley of Vida Blue to the Yankees for $1.5 million and of Joe Rudi and Rollie Fingers to the Red Sox for $1 million each.

Those sales came just prior to the baseball trading deadline of midnight, June 15 and Kuhn ruled last Friday that they were not in the "best interests of baseball." He hen ordered that the three players be restored to the Oak-

Meanwhile, Finley sent a telegram to Kuhn seeking clarification of Kuhn's teletype.

Kuhn then sent a telegram to Finley Friday, warning that there would be "grave penalties" if the club does not use the three players "in a normal way.

After filing the suit, Finley said that none of the three players would start or play for the A's until legal aspects of the suit were cleared up.

Despite Kuhn's second telegram, Finley showed no sign of wavering.
"I will not play them," he reiterated Friday night. "I'm not concerned about the grave consequences. Tell hlm (Kuhn) to fire his grave."

Finley also said he was wiring the Yankees and Red Sox in an effort to get the players'

status clarified.
"I request a specific reply to the following question," Finley's telegram to the teams read.
"If the player's appear in Oakland A's games between this date and Aug. 2, 1976 (when Finley's suit against Kuhm is to be heard in court), will the club accept ... SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The California State Court of Appeal Friday upheld arbitration ordering Oakland Athletics owner Charles O.

The 2-1 decision by the court dealt with both a contract between Hunter, now with the New York Yankees, and Finley for the 1974 and 1975 seasons and the question of whether the "free agent" desig-

"Absent proof that the parties entered the agreement with the intent to fraudulently concealing its existence from the tax authorities, the agreement was valid and en-forceable," said Appeals Court Judge Murray Draper and retired Alameda County Superior Court Judge Folger Emerson, sitting on assignment.

Concerning the arbitrator's ruling and Finley's contention that the application of baseball's reserve clause is not subject to arbitration, the judges noted the issue had been discussed at length in a 1976 decision by the 8th Circuit U.S. Court of Appeals in St. Louis.

American referee Gene LeBell scored it 71-71, Japanese boxing judge Ko Toyama had lnoki winning 72-68 and judge Kokichi, a Japanese wrestling specialist, gave the fight to Ali

The decision was greeted with showers of garbage—waste paper and orange peels—tossed by many of the 14,000 who attended the match at the Budo-kan Martial Arts Hall.

A chastened Ali said after his draw "he did his best and I did my best."

Shorn of his usual glib talk and looking somewhat crestfall-en, the world heavyweight boxing champion said in his dressing room that he hadn't been hurt by Inoki's kicking at-tacks on his legs, but that they had been left "very sore."

Asked how he had won a draw after leading only two blows in the 15-round fight, Ali said "I was on the offensive and that counts."

He said the strange wrestler-boxer "Martial Arts Championship" showed that "if boxers have good reflexes, they could defend themselves in this kind of event. I could go 20 rounds without hurting," he said.

U.S. loses Liquori and Bennett to leg injuries

EUGENE, Ore (AP) — Qualifying action at the U.S. Olympic Track and Field Trials raised as many questions as answers Friday as two of the United States' best bets for Olympic medals were Distance runner Marty Liquori and decathlete Jeff Bennett each withdrew during the early stages of competition due to debilitating in-

However, Maxie Parks, Fred Newhouse and Herman Frazier all qualified for the Olympic team, giving the United States a strong contingent of 400-meters runners.

Parks led all the way, clocking 45.58 for the victory, while New-house finished strong to nab second at 45.76 and the veteran Frazier leaned ahead of a group bunched at the finish to pocket third.

comprised of Shella Ingram, vic-torious Friday in 52.69, Debra Sapenter and Rosalyn Bryant.

Long jumper Arnie Robinson of San Diego, the Olympic bronze medalist in 1972, outduelled Larry Myricks for the victory Friday with a wind-aided leap of 27-51/2. My-ricks (27-11/4) and defending Olympic champ Randy Williams (26-10) also gained berths on the team.

Liquori failed to make the squad and his career appeared nearing an end when the veteran distance runner pulled up with an injury to his left leg during a semi-final heat of the 5,000-meter run. The 28-year-old former Villanova star injured the left leg during

Dalton told MacPhail he would like to see the umpiring quartet of Rich Garcín, Lou DiMuro, Bill Kunkel and Dave Phillips dispersed. Something to do with spreading medocrity to some of the other crews. The general consensus around the league is that the quality of umpiring in the ALL has dropped off drastically in recent years. The Angels aren't the only ones complaining of course. UCLA baskebalt coach Gene Barlow took in the game. Was he trying to recruit Richard Washington from the Kansas City Kings?

KANSAS CITY - It could have been considered a , slump, but John Mayberry didn't look at it that way. John Mayberry stands 6-foot-3 and weighs in at 220 so when he offers an opinion, one is tempted to listen.

Carefully.

Mayberry and his Kansas City teammates had suffered the indignity of dropping six successive games but they were a confident team flying home from Texas Thursday night

Mayberry, the muscular first baseman, almost did it single handedly. He blasted a pair of prodiguous home runs, driving in a total of five, as the Royals snapped out of their slumber.

"We were fairly confident coming home to play the Angels," Mayberry said. "We didn't want the last place team coming in and knocking us off."

This was also the night that Mayberry shed the shackles of a personal drought. Prior to teeing off twice—against Gary Ross, Mayberry was 1-for-19 and 6-for-48—and his batting average had plummeted 30 points to an anemic — for him — 236.

"A lot of times a hitter doesn't know what he's doing, even when he's going good," Mayberry revealed. He also revealed that he came out to the park early Friday evening to receive the personal attention of Charlic Lau, the Royals' capable hitting instructor.

Carolyn Hill, a little lightweight at 117 pounds, delivered a heavy-weight's punch with a 15-foot birdie putt at the 20th hole to defeat Millie Stanley for the championship of the 49th Long Beach Women's Match Play tournament at El Dorado

Hail Hilarious Oaks' favorite

Hail Hilarious, considered by many observers to be the No. 1 sophomore filly in the United States, gets a good chance justify that claim today in the $82,950 Hollywood Oaks.

The Oaks has become Hollywood Park's traditional title decider for three-Hail Hilarious, by virtue of her recent postward as a strong favorite in the 1%-mile affair. For a horse that made just one start as a two-year-old last summer and ran nowhere, Hail Hilarious has done all right for herself.

"She really wasn't ready to run that day," explained trainer Neil Drysdale, and when she only beat one horse we decided to bring her back in the winter.

"I guess it was the right thing to do." Hail Hilarious has won five of her six starts this year, including the seven fur-long Railbird Stakes by seven lengths the 1-1/16-mile Princes in a near wire-to-wire effort. Her only defeat was the Pasadena Stakes at Santa Anita.

"She probably should have won that race, too," says regular rider Don Pierce. "When the man sprung the latch, she jumped backwards and literally lost the race at the start. At that, she was beaten by less than six lengths. Eight other horses will offer a chal-lenge today — Cascapdia, Jamila, I Going, Go March, Quintas Fannie, Graceful Lady, Franmari, Answer.

With nine starters, the race will not the winning owner $49,200.

Answer, heroine of the Oak Leaf Stakes at Santa Anita, was closest to Hail Hilarious in the Priness while Franmari enters the Oaks after winning two stakes races at Golden Gate Fields.

Laffit Pincay rode Mystery Mood to a latit-length victory in Friday's featured $25,000 Walteria Purse.

Sent off a 2-1 favorite, Mystery Mood returned $4.60 for the win, having dropped in company with poor efforts against the likes of Miss Toshiba and Just A Kick in her last two starts, then running sixth at Golden Gate Fields.

The co-featured $25,000 fourth race was won by Miss Tokyo.

Charter Party heads Laddie Stakes field

Joining Charter Party and He Flys in the 400yard Laddie are Vidon, Hank's Page, Silver's Fleet, Jonathon, Jet Spy, Wicked Warrior, Mr. Roan Deck and Boogie Blues. Louis Kinipper and Kips Son are on the "also eligible" list.

Charter Party, a son of Bayou Bar, has been idle since his runnerup role in the rich Derby. The W. D. Taylor-trained gelding was nearly supplemented to the Rainbow Derby at

Los Chiquitos last winter and also has finished second in the El Primero Del Ano Derby and HQHRA Championship. A finalist in the Los Al Derby, He Flys has been somewhat of a disappointment this summer after his brilliant

2-year-old season. Hank's Page has earned nearly $50,000 during his career. SEcond to Windy's Request in the $204,000 Golden State Derby at Bay Meadows, Hank's Page has failed to win in three starts at the current meet-ing. Steve Walker will ride the son of Page.

Big Badger continued his reputation as the top distance horse in Orange County Friday night when he toted 125 pounds to his third consecutive victory in the featured El Ocho Setenta Stakes.

The 5-year-old ruled as the best distance horse at Los Alamitos last winter, when he captured the Bull Rastus Stakes and is the front-runner for those same honors at the current meeting after victo-ries in the War Chic, Endurance and now the El Ocho Setenta.

Big Badger drew to the front under the urging of jockey Robert Adair but never managed more than a neck lead throughout the 870-yard affair.

Big Badger paid $4,

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Chris Evert announced Friday that the world's top women tennis stars will not compete at Wimbledon next year because the All-England Club will not give them the news behind the scenes.

Miss Evert, president of the Women's Tennis Association, had a face-to-face meeting with Air Vice Marshal Sir Brian Burnett, chairman of the All-England Club. She said unless the women got equal prize money, they will boycott Wimbledon in 1977 and accept an offer of another tournament in the United Burnett told her the demands will not be met. "That means WTA members will not be here next year," said Jerry Diamond, executive director of the WTA.

This dispute started last year when Billie Jean King, then president of WTA, met the AllEngland Club and won some concessions over prize money. The club agreed then to give the women's quarter-

Burnett, in a statement, said the women play approximately half the number of sets at Wimbledon at that the men play, and provide entertainment for the public for about half the time.

"Therefore, on a strict basis of equal pay for equal amount of work, the women players should get approximately 50 per cent of the men's prize money," Burnett said.

"They are in fact getting 65 per cent over-all despite their smaller numbers, and the better players are getting 80 per cent."

despite their smaller numbers, and the better players are getting 80 per cent."

Burnett said the club had agreed with Ms. King there should be a more equal distribution of prize money for the last eight in the women's singles and the finalists in the doubles, but he added:

"The fact remains that in earlier rounds the standard of play of the women is such that they are nothing like such a great draw for the public as the men players, whose standard in depth is extremely high today."

Diamond said 40 members of WTA had signed a letter agreeing not to play at Wimbledon unless they got parity in prize money.

scene of pandemonium. Ali dismissed the fact that he had only landed two punches by saying, "I just couldn't hit him while he was on the floor."

When asked what he thought when I no ki brought him to the mat, he replied with a little of his usual verve, "I was just letting time go by while I collected my $6 million."

LeBell said he had scored the fight a draw because Ali had put up a good idefense, good defense, 'a very, very good defense." He conceded that inoki had shown a good offen-sive, "but that was not enough." He said he had penalized Inoki twice, once for a low blow and once for unauthorized Ali weighed 218¼ pounds for the match and Inoki weighed 221½. Ali received 36 million and Inoki could earn as much as $4 million.

Despite the massive pre-match publicity and countless threats of violence by the contestants, it was a tedious comi ontation, with neither combat-ant making much contact. Each-was afraid to apan maximum rentaet. Each—was afraid to approach the territory which the other man had staked out for himself—Inoki dominating the center of the ring, All dancing along the rings.

Inoki, challenging Ali's assertion that he could beat anybody any time, set the tone for the match at the opening bell when he rushed from his corner with a flying leap, landed on his backside and tried

kicking.
Ali circled around the ring, taunting the big Japanese wrestler and sticking his tongue out at him. But he stayed out of range of Inoki's long legs and did not throw a single punch until the seventh round. He grazed Inoki's ear with a jab in the 10th round, but did not land roaching solid blow until late in the 13th, when an Ali left shook Inoki's head. He landed one more sudden left to Inoki's head in the 14th round, but the wrestler was unfazed by the blow.

In the sixth, Ali tried to counter Inoki's tactics of lying on his back and swinging with his feet by grabbing the wrestler legs. Inoki, who looked like an overturned beetle, quickly bounced up and sat on the surprised Ali. But with Ali under the ropes, the referee had to

Ali also went down briefly after a couple of other fnok kirks, but each time was on his feet immediately.

The most serious grappling came in the 13th.
Inoki had his arms around Ali's waist while Ali made funny faces and the referee struggled to move the two away from the ropes. Inoki gave Ali a knee in

was penalized one point. The referee examined Ali in his corner and the boxer made a move to leave the ring, but then returned immediately.

The Giant, who doubled Wepner in weight and took the 220-pound boxer's hardest shots without apparent trouble, spun Wepner 360 degrees in the air and depos-

With part of the Shea Stadium infield turf on his back, Wenner was aided by one of his seconds in an effort to return to the ring inside the 20-second limit. But he couldn't get there in time, and referee John Stanley ruled that the fight was over at 1:15 of the third round.

Assistants from both corners converged in the ring and began mixing it up, a bizarre windup to this bizarre confrontation which was a preliminary event to the Muhammad Ali-Antonio Inoki martial arts encounter in Tokyo.

The strategy of the match was obvious from the outset. Wepner, the 6-foot-5 brew salesman from Bayonne, N.J., danced and jabbed and reached for the ropes whenever he got into trouble. Andre, a 7-4, 440-pound giant from Grenoble, France, was continually the aggressor, stalking Wepner and attempting to pull him

Each time the Giant grabbed Wepner, the 35-yearold boxer managed to get a leg or an arm on the ropes. That brought the referee in to separate the combatants.

The Giant, a full-time wrestler, hurt Wepner in the second round with a rabbit punch to the boxer's back. Wepner, whose claim to fame was a 1974 knockout loss ously hurt the Giant.

Taxes exceed earnings

By BOB GEIVET Staff Writer

Stockholders will get $1.35 a share, up 5 cents from last year's earnings of better than $10.9 million.

THE COMPANY, which has a vast business, commercial, rental, home building and agricultural empire on its more than 77,000 acres in central Orange Coun-ty, had sales of $103.8 million in its last business year.

President Raymond Watson said that the record is remarkable, in that there was a marked slowdown in business operations generally during that business year.

It was the 10th successive year that the company sales had increased, he said. They are up 700 per cent since 1966.

In one year, Watson said, the company's tax burden jumped from $10.1 million market, that most conservative of all industries, life insurance, is getting excited about it.

Following a relaxation of regulatory restrictions, policies already are being sold whose face value—the rate paid to beneficiaries—is governed partly by how well the stock market performs.
Note the phrase "by how well." It doesn't matter if in the meantime the market collapses, because the traditional feature of a fixed return—the face value is governeded. value— is guaranteed.

"OUR EXPERIENCE tells us that in the long run the returns on common stock will be greater than on bonds and mortgages," says Harry Walker, president of an Equitable Life Assurance subsidiary that is the first to write such insurance.

In Walker's opinion, the Equitable Variable Life Insurance Co. should be able to obtain a return 2 to 3 per cent better than that earned by the traditional, more conservative investment procedures.

The insurance costs more than most ordinary whole life policies, but Walker maintains that it is impossible to make comparisons because of the different nature of the policies.

At age 40, a female can obtain $100,000 face amount for an annual premium of $2,080, a male for $2,353. At age 55 the annual premiums are about double—$4,012 for women, $4,620 for men. The policies pay no dividends, but do have cash value.

IN RETURN, the insured's beneficiaries are guaranteed a minimum of $100,000, and possibly more, although at this time many stock market investors have questions about just how much more. Even though the Standard & Poor's 500 Stock Average gained only 5 per cent from 1965 through 1975, Walker has high hopes for his new product, now hairs, seld in 14 totates, but soon, expected to be offered in all 50.

When permission is granted by all the individual state insurance commissioners, he expects to be able to sell at least $200 million worth a year, 10 per cent of all Equitable's sales, enough to generate $4 million of premiums in the first year.

Walker remains optimistic, despite the relatively poor market performance in the most recent decade. From 1930 to 1975, he notes, the S&P average, with all dividends reinvested, increased 11.1 per cent.

In the 1940-1975 period the same average rose 12.4 per cent, and in the 2½ decades through 1975 the gain was 11.9 per cent. It is only in the more recent gain was 11.9 per cent. It is only in the more recent comparisons that returns have declined, he observes.

BETWEEN 1860-75, for example, a period in which many stocks rose sharply, the over-all average advanced only 8.6 per cent, but Walker states, "We don't think the last 10 years will repeat themselves."

Insurance companies have a way with figures, or any state of the Me and his course, and Walker is quite certain of his. He and his associates maintain there is little or nothing in the future to change the long-term pattern.

This observation would seem to contradict some of the viewpoint often expressed by big business, including insurance companies, that free enterprise is being thwarted by growing socialistic tendencies.

Walker replies by saying "We don't in any way make projections of what the return will be; it's up to the belief of each buyer." But he repeats that the past is as solid a criterion as any available.

If the individual wants the more conservative policy that guarantees a fixed return— and no more— he still has that choice, says Walker. "Our agents sell both."

WITH GROSS income of $103.8 million, the company realized $78.8 million from land developments, $18.2 million from agriculture, and $5.2 million from real estate sales. It also earned $1.5 million in interest on its deposits.

Directors of the Irvine Foundation, which owns 54 per cent of the company stock and so controls its operations, were re-elected without opposition— and with dissent only from Mrs. Joan Irvine Smith, granddaughter of James E. Irvine, the ranch founder.

SHE AND KEITH Gaede hold family stock; she with 21.4 per cent owns more than any other individual. She did not vote on the re-election of President Watson, Howard P. Allen, John V. Newman, Wil-liam T. White III and William S. Lund as directors.

Mrs. Smith is currently challenging the Foundation's intent to sell its controlling interest in the Irvine Co. to Mobil Oil Co. for $110 million, which figures out to $24

Many managers moonlighting

CLEVELAND- Moonlighting can be found among managers from supervisors to presidents, Industry Week said Friday.

Often the second job is of a consulting nature. Corporate accountants who prepare income tax returns or help a small business with its books are a typical example, the magazine for managers says.

But the fact that few board chairmen characterize being paid to sit on other boards as "moonlighting" suggests the quest for challenge and satisfaction is one major reason managers major reason managers moonlight.

Many interviewed by Industry Week contend that they were "pushed" into a moonlighting situation because their main job did not make full use of their talents.

SOMETIMES those talents were job-related, as in the case of managers serving other firms as consultants. In other cases they were not, such as one manager who is a professional photographer at night and on weekends. Whatever their activity few managers interviewed additional to the property is their admit that money is their prime reason for moonlighting. But all mentioned that they did enjoy the extra income. Few companies have any written policy on moonlighting. Where there is a corporate statement regarding managers having another job, it is usually a conflict of interest prohibition, Industry Week finds. Many firms suggest "managers can do whatever they want on their own time as long as it doesn't interfere with their prime job." But on the other hand, they fre-quently add, "if he can adequately handle both jobs then he could be doing a better job here."

SOME FIRMS hold the view that "we are not here to be a training ground for other companies" while still others question whose knowledge will be used by a moonlighting manager-consultant, "his own or ours?" And Industry Week heard still another objec-tion — an industrial relation — an industrial rela-tions vice president con-cerned that "moonlighting is bad public relations be-cause it suggests we don't pay enough."

takes an almost opposite view is a bank. The institution's professional employees, especially economists, have been subtly urged to take part-time jobs teaching at the university level.

But the bank is prepar ing a policy now that will prohibit any type of parttime employment which "either would be or presents the appearance of conflict." Teaching Teaching would not be banned under the new rule, but working nights at the racetrack "most certainly would,"
Industry Week concludes.

Cash 'n carry success for Carriage Pop By STEPHEN FOX Associated Press Writer

Free samples and simplicity are making Pop Industries a success.

The Westminster-based company, now four years old, produces and markets its own brand of soda pop which it sells through 15 "Carriage Pop Shops" in Los Angeles, Orange and Riverside counties.

What's unique, besides the price, is that the firm sells only through its own outlets, where customers can sample as many of their 30 assorted flavors as their consciences and stomachs allow.

The firm, which expects to have 50 to 60 stores in California and Arizona by yearend, is cashing in on the fastest growing part of the soft drink business cash and carry sales.

"NORMALLY EVERYTHING starts in the West and moves east," says Paul Lajoie, Pop Industries president, "but this started back East and is just getting here. Last year cash and carry grew from nine to 12.5 per cent of the national (soft drink) market, but in California, it's only 2 per cent."

Carriage Pop is sold only by the case, two dozen 12-ounce bottles for $2.79, or about half the cost of most better-known brands. Customers also have to plunk down a $2.70 deposit on the case and returnable bottles but that is refundable.

"You get customers in the store with the price and the fact that they can taste the soda pop," says Lorraine Lajoie, the company's treasurer. "But you get the repeat business because of quality."

Carriage Pop is concocted by Chuck Richard, 61, a chemist (and company secretary) who spent more than 20 years in the soft drink business with Orange Crush, Pepsi and Seven-Up before founding Pop Industries with the Lajoies and one other partner.

"OUR OPERATION METHOD allows us to keep the price down where it belongs," says Lajoic, ex-plaining that Pop Industries' streamlined bottling plant requires only four employes (the company has

Mercenaries to be People and ideas sentenced Monday

LUANDA, Angola -Black Africa's first great courtroom drama reaches its climax Monday when a people's revolutionary court decides whether 13 white mercenaries should face a firing squad.

There is no appeal from the action of the court, which could also order lengthy prison terms or expulsion of the three Americans and 10 Britons captured in the civil war. Any death sentence must be confirmed by Angolan President Agostinho Neto.

A DEATH verdict could only be a nightmare for Dr. Neto, a gynecologist trained to save life and a poet concerned with hu-manity. But above all he is an African leader whose message on mercenaries is eagerly awaited by the Third World as a warning on the liberation struggles Rhodesia and South

He must also weigh his own political future in a country still divided by bitter memories of the war and lingering sporadic fighting, where the nineday trial was broadcast over local radio and TV and demonstrators in the streets cried "Death to the mercenaries."

The court numbers four men and a woman sitting in high-backed leather chairs in the old colonialstyle Chamber of Commerce auditorium and acting as both judge and jury.

GARY ACKER, an ex-Marine from Sacramento, Calif., still hopes against hope to be going home on the same plane as attorney Bob Cesner, whose low-keyed, unemotional defense presented the tribunal with complex issues of international law

Perhaps more realistic, Daniel Gearbart, who left a wife and four kids on welfare in Kensington, Md., for an ill-fated threeday career as a soldier of misfortune, has begun building bookcases in his cell at St. Paul's Prison. has asked Cesner, when he gets back to his law office in Columbus, Ohio, to send on the philosophical works of Schopenhauer and Nietsche and other deep tomes that add up to more than a weekend of read-

GEARHART bas promised, if he ever gets bome, to bring criminal charges against the California recruiters who brought him out to Africa to fight on the losing side in the civil war and, he says, fleeced him of the money that never got home to his family.

Gustavo "Gus" Grillo, who once worked for a Jersey City bookmaker, said his Cuban Jailers helped him see the truth about "the monster of American consumer society" and he has converted to international socialism. He told the court be is willing to work, even fight, for the Angolan people who saved his life after he came as a paid gun to help kill them.

Grillo turned out to be the friendliest prosecution witness among the prisoners but did not sell out in his testimony the two Vietnam veterans who came out on the plane with him.

THE undisputed centerpiece of the trial was Costas Georgiou, alias Col. Callan, who came on stage with a defiant, swaggering James Cagney lough-guy approach, refusing even to up the courtroom drama with a tortured Alec Guinness portrayal of a broken colonel, talking more to himself than the court in confession of his guilt in the massacre of 14 British mercenaries who refused to fight. Cesner's one-hour and 20-minute summing up speech on behalf of white mercenaries before an African People's Court was hailed as "a masterpiece, the best possible defense," by Kermit Cole-man, a Chicago civil rights lawyer who observed the trial.

Cesner also was praised by the presiding judge for his earnest, dignified con-duct in the People's Court, and the law school at Luanda University has asked for copies of his summation.

EVEN government-controlled newspapers credited him for "restoring a balance" after the people's prosecutor spent three hours and 36 minutes denouncing mercenarism, imperialism and the CLA, and only four minutes dealing with the specific charges against the accused for whom he was demanding the death penalty.

its other high points.

There was Andrew Gordon McKenzie, a shrunken figure in a wheel chair clutching the stump of his left leg amputated at the knee, calling out "lying bastard" to one prosecution witness who was arrested next day for perjury. He demanded of another who fingered him how he could have killed three people in a bar in northern Angola early in January when his passport and air ticket showed he was still in England.

THERE WAS the arrival of the British lawyers on the third day of the trial. One took 18 minutes to say hello to the court and another in his best Etonian tones was caught in a classic cultural collision with a black speaking a tribal language of parables and folk sayings.

London barrister Clive Stanbrook tried to get the witness to admit that when the British mercenaries took over his hut, he was not intimidated but even showed them how to extract water from a palm leaf.

"He says," the interpreter told the court, "did they come from America to kill him or for him to teach them how to make palm wine.

"There is always an undercurrent of humor at a murder trial," said Scot-tish advocate Raymond

Fraser of Edinburgh. He

pants, velvet-collared

Chesterfield jacket, pink bow tie and mutton chop whiskers to defend

McKenzie, who decided at first sight to stick with his Angolan lawyer.

LAUGHTER in court did not conceal the impression that prosecution witnesses regarded the mercenaries as Americans, even though the majority - 10 of the 13 were British subjects.

He said police were not fired at during the vio-lence, although two blacks were arrested in Soweto with 22-caliber pistols.

Kruger dismissed as "irresponsible and un-founded" charges at the United Nations by South African black liberation movements that 700 persons were killed in Soweto, a ghetto of more than one

ers, and many of the casualties among rioters were caused by .22 (caliber) bulwhich police did not iets," use, Kruger told foreign correspondents at a news

He estimated 30 to 40 per cent of the deaths were due to police action. But he gave no details and said police still were investigating exactly how many persons had been killed by police and how many died at the hands of the rioters.

HE SAID black police first opened fire on rioling students June 16 in the black township of Soweto. He said a total of 22 police officers were injured in the disturbances.

Declining pluralism

In colonial America a Church of England clergy-man met a Quaker on the was carrying a big Bible.
He lifted it with both hands, said, "Friend, receive the Word of God," and struck Broad Brim on the head. Recently in Long Beach a Quaker preached from the pulpit of an Episcopal church. Times have changed in

America's 200 years., In religion and almost everything else America is the most pluralistic nation in the world. But now the pluralism is showing signs of declining and blending.

From the first America

was a land of numerous jarring religious and po-litical sects. Most of the people who made that perilous voyage were in search of "freedom." By this they meant freedom for themselves, not for others. Some who had suffered the lash of oppression became more oppressive than the British Quakers and Baptists did not fare well in Puritan

New England. Some, notably Quakers and some of the Catholics, had a larger vision. Even the most liberal tended to think in terms of toleration rather than brotherhood.

The sects proliferated. There were two reasons for this. People from the same country tended to flock together and maintain their own language and customs.

The other reason was intellectual. Most of the colonists believed earnestly in ideas. They left the old countries because they could not accept the ideas. religious or secular, which were considered mandatory.

And so naturally these dissenters dissented from each other. Churches splintered and splintered

Oddly, there were many colonists who were not religious — or not very religious. They tended to fall into two types. There were ignorant, lawless, cultureless people. And there were the keen intellectuals, like Thomas Jefferson.

One doesn't need to be much of a historian to realize that these patterns of religion and nonreligion persist in contemporary America.

But there has been a change, especially since World War II. In the 1920s the religious and danger-ous Ku Klux Klan swept across the nation with its doctrines of hatred for blacks, Jews, Catholics and foreigners. No one could sell such a program to decent, middleclass citizens today. There are many factors involved in change. World War II may have had a civilizing effect. All sorts and conditions of men in uniform learned to work with each other and be friends. The fences between religions, social classes and regions crum-bled. We knew that our lives depended on each

Many other things have happened. The civil rights crusaders brought an end to barbarous racial laws, and — although one tends to become discouraged by continuing racial tension — much has been achievin bettering human relations.

It is impossible to praise too highly the work of such organizations as the National Conference of Christians and Jews in breaking down prejudices at the business and profesonal levels.

Churches are beginning to look more and more alike. While there are many denominations and a new one is formed every weekend - they seem to be blending in emphasis.

The grandchildren of the founders no longer speak that way. Their language is English.

Protestants from "high" liturgical churches can now go to Roman Catholic Mass and almost feel they had not left home. Even the "low" churches are becoming more liturgical. This writer attended a Communion in a Christian Church, a denomination he once knew very well. The ocassion was dignified, musical, emotional, wellrehearsed — almost a different kind of Mass.
There is more and more work toward union. Time was, even in this century, when gentlemen of the cloth of the Methodist Episcopal Church North did not speak to their counterparts in the Methodist Episcopal Church South. Now there is the United Methodist Church There are also the United Presbyterian Church, the United Church of Christ and many others.

At the enthronement of the present Bishop of Canterbury, two Roman Cath-olic cardinals attended.

Some Jews are learful of this decline of plural-ism. Many Jews are marrying Christians. And many are becoming secu-iar, ignoring the temples and their message.

Many Christians too are worried. There are Catholics who, almost in defi-ance of the Pope, continue to celebrate the Latin Tridentine Mass and suggest that the Mass in English is heresy and blasphemy.

Other churches are going through similar stresses. After all, custom plays a part in the observ-ance of religion. When an Epscopal priest abandoned the practice of carrying the American and Church flags in the processional, one lady proclaimed that he was unpatriotic and an atheist. What is happening? Some intellectuals are reluctant to approve the changes completely. They argue that such blending requires the abandoment of principles. There is, they say, a very real danger of "throwing out the baby with the bath."

Change is inevitable in human history, but per-haps in religion it should brought about by 'deliberate speed." Many older people resent having not only their customs, but their deepest convictions challenged by brash young fellows fresh out of seminary. And many of the young yearn to believe in something more solid and lasting than a rock festi-

WHO IS A CHRISTIAN?

We frequently receive letters denouncing certain religious groups as "not Christian." The Mormons and Jehovah's Witnesses are the most frequent targets of thse attacks.

This is absurd, almost obscene. Mormons and Witnesses are by their beliefs and works Christ-centered.

They are clearly outside the ''mainstream'' of Christianity. They are not Baptists or Presbyterians or Roman Catholics. Their doctrines are not acceptable to those in the "mainstream.' So call them heretics. Church courts once turned heretics over to the secular government dealt with as mercifully as possible and without the shedding of blood." This meant buring at the stake.

Heresy today is not a crime. Elements in the Episcopal Church wanted to try the late Bishop Pike for heresy. The Church wouldn't do it. Once that sort of thing started where would it stop? Bishop Pike, who had some

By MARK CLUTTER
IN MY FATHER'S cause F HOUSE, by Corrie ten Boom, Revel, $6.95.

This book puts into. deeper perspective the lives of the ten Boom family who defied the Nazis and suffered for doing so. That story is told in her book, "The Hiding Place," which tells of the ten Boom's efforts to hide Jews while the unspeakable Nazis were dragging them off to the murder camps. That game could-n't go on in conquered Hol-land. The ten Booms were imprisoned, and only Corrie survived.

If you haven't read

"The Hiding Place," or seen the movie — one of the best made in recent years -- do so. It is a painful but beautiful experience which gives a deeper hope for the buman race.

"In My Father's House," an bonest autobiography, explains how there happens to be ten Booms in our often silly and cruel world.

Corrie was born in 1892

in Holland. (She is still going strong as an author and a missionary to the whole world.) Her father, Casper, was a watchmaker and clock-tender, maker and clock-tender, an inherited profession. He was highly respected but never got rich. The ten Booms were extremely pious in an old-fashioned way. They had prayer sessions and Biblereadings daily. They served the church and churchrelated groups.

It sounds stuffy, but apparently wasn't. There was much quiet merriment. The house was always full of relatives and friends. and friends.

EDITOR'S NOTE: It is amazing how ministers with three or four academic degrees and with years of experience can send to the Religion Editor news items and announcements that are unusuable because essential facts are omitted. Please give precise details. Tell what the event is and who is giving it. Tell the precise name of the church, the address, including the town. And give the calendar date as well as the day of the week. Church news, with some exceptions, should be of interest to the entire community, not just to the congregation. Members have already heard that news, anyhow. We are not interested in who won church elections (with possibly some exceptions.) We are interested in new pastors, retiring pastors, major building projects, unusual programs, etc. All news should be on the Religion Editor's desk before noon on Thursday. (Here, too, there might be exceptions, but that's the

NEW YORK (AP) -Some political commentators, on the air and in print, are saying that religion has no place in politics. This is an old claim of some pietists who would restrict faith to the private sphere, but it's contrary to the teachings of the major historic churches.

It's also "non-Biblical and unthelogical," says the Rev. Dr. Donald Shriver, president of New York's Union Theological Seminary, the country's oldest interdenominational educational institution. Biblical faith includes both dimensions, the per-sonal and the social. This is way beyond debate in Christian thought today."

What brought the issue to the forefront is the emergence of religious elements in the race for the U.S. presidential nomination, with various political commentators saying it shouldn't be there, implying that the religious character of a man shouldn't count or be men-

"A MAN'S religion, or tack thereof, is his own business, writes historian-political analyst Arthur Schlesinger Jr., contending that "religion should stay out of politics."

"It's almost as if a politician merely mentions the name of God, it's some kind of heresy," observes Dr. Shriver, a Presbyte-rian and specialist in Christian ethics, "But many people are interested in knowing the religious convictions of national leaders. It's a basic, moti-vating influence."

Since James Carter, a Southern Baptist, cites the late great Lutheran theolo-gian Reinhold Niebuhr as favorite theologian, Schlesinger says this is reassuring because Niebuhr insisted that simple "pietistic moralism" could not solve complex social problems, quoting Niebuhr as saying:

AMERICANChristianity tends to be irrelevant to the problems of justice because it persists in presenting the law of love as a simple solution for every moral problem ... Christian moralism has made meager contributions to the issues of jus-tice in modern society."

This, however, is predisely the lapse in Christian functioning early in this century that Niebuhr so scathingly life, social and political.

A tough-minded realist. he also spurned the onetime social optimism that education and progress eventually would bring utopia. POSITIVE THINKING by Norman Vincent Peale

Orville Kelly and his sixty chapters organized ife. Wanda, were on and more being added wife, Wanda, were on their way home from the hospital. Silent and stricken they rode through the incredible beauty of the autumn afternoon. Cancer was the verdict he had just received. Terminal Driving silently, in the depths of depression, Or-ville was thinking. Turn-ing to his wife, Orville said gently, "We must not tell the children or anyone."

"Let's keep it to ourselves as long as possi-ble," they sobbed togeth-

Suddenly, Orville pulled stancing, Orvine pured the car to the side of the road, stopped and turned to his wife. "Wanda," he said, "I am going to die, but I'm not dead yet. We are all terminal. It's just a matter of time for every human being on earth. As the Bible tells us, no one knows the day or the hour. But there is a terminal ahead for each of us. Such is the simple truth of existence. In the meantime, I want to make every day count!"

Orville and Wanda turned to each other with a new depth of understand-ing. Orville then suggested that they go me, speak to their children, and even have a barbecue in the backyard as they were accustomed to doing on warm days. "Let's come clean with everybody," he said. We will just act nor-mal about this and think of it as an incident in life. I'm going to fry to be a happy terminal person along with all the others who are also terminal but just haven't been told

His honest action normalized the situation, relieved everyone of embarrassment and sent a wave of inspiration through the community. Because Or-ville Kelly is a newspaperman, he wrote an article about his ex-perience. Thousands of let-ters arrived in response to this article. Orville Kelly answered each and every letter individually and what began as a small community movement has now mushroomed into national program with AMERICAN BAPTIST

Kelly's soon discovered anyone who wanted to make each day count could be helped by this organization. Kelly sends out inspirational bulletins and goes on speaking tours advocating in a simple, sincere and persua manner this basic fact about living; which is that one can indeed make each day count and en-hance the joy and meaning of life.

As one grows older, the days seem to be shorter, but by the practice of Kelly's inspired philosophy they grow sweeter. It is a great technique to live by. Through the "Make Today Count" clubs which have sprung up all across the United States, new blessings come every day, and there is new meaning in the promise of Christ that He would be with us always — and every where.

___Need for patriotism __

There are still frontiers

By MARK CLUTTER

"I have lived all over the world," said the Russian-American woman, " and I have only one thing to say to those Americans who hate or are contemptuous of this country: Go live in another country, any country, for six months. You will find out the truth about America. There is no better place in the world."

The speaker, Kyra Wayne, now an author, grew up in Leningrad. She had a good life there. She became an honored young musician and actress. In World War II she distinguished herself briefly as a fighting soldier. She has many fond memories of her youth and her beautiful Leningrad.

But she is an American! Like so many immigrants, she values what she has found here.

MANY CHURCHES will have special services on July 4, a week from Sunday. This is the Bicentennial, and we will probably all be a bit bored by patriotic observances by New Year's Eve.

But where is the patriotism? It seems to be at the lowest ebb in history.

Many, especially those who grew up in the 1960s, openly scorn the United States. Many others are numbly indifferent. And many who are truly patriotic display touches of sadness and cynicism. What is going wrong in our beautiful nation?

It is a little too glib to say "Vietnam" or "Watergate" or "sex scandals in Congress." Some people seem to think that wrong-headedness, corruption and sin are recent inventions.

THE HEART of the matter must be a loss of faith, a loss of vision. Hopefully this is temporary, a passing phase, the temporary pessimism of emotional exhaustion.

To recapture patriotism it is wise to think of both the past and the future. Remember the little bands of colonists who clung desperately to strips of land between the ocean and the green hell of the wilderness. In the years between 1620 and 1776 they built a frontier civilization with arts, industry, commerce and learning. More important, there was a growing desire for independence, not just political but also for the human spirit.

The Founding Fathers framed a nation unlike any other that had ever been seen in the world.

There began the westering movement, the taming of a savage wilderness. Even today that has not been entirely completed.

The nation was wracked by three major wars — the Civil War, World War I and World War II. They were fought, not for loot or conquest but for the noble American ideal of freedom. (Unfortunately, it is not possible to be so idealistic about some of the "brushfire" wars.)

In this century there has been more progress than ever before in a comparable period in history. A horse-drawn culture now travels by automobile and aircraft. Men have walked on the moon. Communication by telephone, radio and television is instantane-

But progress has been even greater in human everyone can get an education. In 1900 blacks, although technically free, were de facto slaves oppressed by tyrannical laws. Now they have civil liberties and the old prejudices are breaking down. In 1900 the health of people was wracked by smallpox, tuberculosis, typhoid and many other plagues, most of which are now eliminated or under control.

YES, AMERICA has great cause for pride.

But our history, up to now, should be considered just a beginning. Disease, injustice poverty, and ignorance are still very much with us. But unlike peoples of the past, we have the knowledge and calculate to expresent them. Only faith and will seem science to overcome them. Only faith and will seem to be lacking.

Surely we will wake up. America still has many unconquered frontiers, and Americans are the sons of

Poet Paul Engle said to his fellow Americans: "Plunge into that vaster and more savage West, "The unfamiliar country of your heart."

England to L.B.: Mary makes it in 8 years on cycle

Eight years ago, Mary Sievier left her Southampton, England, home with $200 stuffed in her haversack and a typewriter, tent and sleeping bag strapped to her

About 42,000 miles later she arrived in Long Beach — minus the motorbike — and 3,000 miles short of completing her goal of driving around the world.

The bike is sitting in a crate on the docks, where authorities insist it will remain until she can produce proper identification.

"I LOST my original bill of lading," Mary lamented. "And I've been waiting for four days for the shipping company to get a dupli-cate from their office in Hong Kong (her last port of call). Otherwise the authorities won't give me the bike. They won't accept my passport as proof that I'm me."

By NOEL SWANN From Our L.A. Bureau

Supervisors Friday plowed through their fifth day of budget deliberations, cutting a further $6.5 million in capital projects.

The box score after the first week of deliberations showed additions of $29 million to the proposed $3,2 billion 1976-77 spending plan, and cuts totaling $10.2 million.

The net effect of the actions so far would raise the projected tax rate to $4.79 per $100 of assessed valuation—an increase of 27 cents over the current rate.

RTD launches new South Bay service

The Southern California Rapid Transit District, at a cost of $32.7 million annually, Sunday will start a new 700-mile, 39-line hus service system in the South Bay area. It will serve "every major employment, educational, receational, shopping and social service center in the entire South Bay area," ac-cording to Patrick Barry, RTD spokesman.

OF THE 37 current lines in the area, RTD has redesigned 24, according to Barry. Twenty-one communities with a total population of approximately 970,000 will be scryd be seried by a sid Purchaster. ed, he said. Buses will run every 30 minutes in most areas, and every 60 minutes in less populated areas such as San Pedro, Carson and

According to Jack Gilstran, RTD general manager, the new transit network calls for establishment of five new freeway lines into downtown Los Angeles, a virtually all-new bus system for the Palos Verdes Peninsula, and a new mini-bus shuttle service and transfer terminal at L. A. International Air-

Barry said the new freeway lines will run more frequently than those in the past.

PERSONS riding buses which stop at the airport terminal will be spared the 15 minute jaunt through World Way loop. Instead, Barry ex-plained, airport passengers will be discharged at a transfer terminal.

There they then can board the free minibuses, which run every eight to 10 minutes, to the terminals. Those boarding at the airport terminals must pay a 25-cent fare. Transfer to the main bus from the shuttle, however, is free.

The upgraded South Bay serv ice is part of a total county effort by the RTD, said Barry. So far, the county has provided the system with $15.5 million dollars through its revenue-sharing program.

Ninety-three abandoned houses which had been foreclosed by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) have been bought by the City of Long Beach, rehabilitated and resold, Acting City Manager Robert C. Creighton said Friday.

Wilson and other council members expressed concern about the number of HUD-foreclosed dwellings which had been boarded up and left. Under the program, the city purchases the property from HUD, and then sells it to a nonprofit corporation to rehabilitate and resell to moderate income families.

To date, the program has been carried out in Long Beach exclusively with the Mead Redevelopment Corp., but Creighton emphasized that any other qualified nonprofit organizations which might be interested are invited to narticipate.

Plumeria: the fragrant flower

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

We have had inquiries about Plumeria shrubs --would & grow in Southern California? Folks who have visited Hawaii, or some of the other tropical islands can never forget the lovely fragrant flowers white, yellow, or red, and especially the leis made with those blossoms.
Some of the plants

develop into small trees, all have stiff forking branches with long pointed leaves at both ends. However, milky juice is poisonous. Several varieties are leafless part of the year. The Singapore variety is more tender, green the year round, blossoms nearly the whole year.

Now ... as to growing them in Southern California: we've seen an eight foot tall shrub close to a south exposure wall in a garden in Anaheim. We saw several of them in a garden in San Pedro. (If the owners recognize our explanation about the plants, would they please write us. We'd like to take a picture of them.)

ÇABARET

Yes, plumerias can be grown in milder areas, providing they grow in sunny area — more sun than shade. Plant them in a prepared soil as one would when setting out any strub or tree. Water and feed them like other plants. Protect them from possible frost damage.

DANDELION in dichondra can easily be wiped out, not by hand weeding, but by using a broad leaf weed herbicide. Now, don't get excited, i'm not going to say, "dilute it with water and spray the lawn." If I did, you would-i't have a dichondry lawn n't have a dichondra lawn because the broad leaf herbicide doesn't know that a dicbondra lawn is a desirable ground cover and ismowed regularly like a grass lawn. squirt to oil squeaky hinges or whatever else needs oiling, but instead of using oil, fill it 100 percent strength with a 2-4D herbicide. The dichondra lawn must be dry. Flatten the dandelion weed leaves down to expose the crown which is the area where all the leaves grow from. Squirt half a dozen drops of the herbicide into the crown. Don't water the lawn for three days. The dandelion weed goes limp and dies completely down through the whole root system. No more dande-lion. (Hand weeding doesn't remove all of the roots. Later more dandelions grow up from them.)

Sure it is a tedious job to kill the dandelion in dichondra lawn this way, but it is the most effective way. There may be a long handled weeding tool with a squirter that eliminates squatting or bending down

A farce with the force of four-barreled shotgun is the current Souh Coast Repertory theater's production of "In Fashion", a musical presenta-tion of a play by 19th cen-tury French playwright George Freydeau.

His play, based on the misadventures of three more-or-less-married cou-ples and a couple of other characters, is vividly revitalized in the musical version first presented by the Actor's Theater of Louisville in 1973.

Written by ATL's production director, Jon Jory, and perfectly embellished by composer Jerry Blatt and lyricist Lonnie Burstein, the play, as presented by SCR, takes pages out of Moliere and Oscar Wilde.

Water garden

How much water does a 2 vegetable garden require? The normal garden requirements for water are the equivalent of one inch of rainfall each week that if there is no rain the garden should receive a good soaking once a week. In a furrowed garden allow the hose to run between the furrows until the earth is soaked.

If not furrowed, a spray attachment should be used. A thorough soaking CENTURY CINEMAS weekly is preferable to several light waterings.

Callas

Callas that didn't bloom this year or flowered poorly may need to have the roots dug up and the soil rejuvenated by mixing in some compost.
You can treat with steer

Bluegrass

Bluegrass lawns behave differently in autumn when days shorten than in spring when the day lengthens. In one test, Merion bluegrass, a lawn favorite, produced foliage more than twice as long under 16 hours of light as under 8 hours. The leaves were a bit wider, too.

the show's two central fig-ures. Theima Hansen and rosalie, as, in a matter of speaking, they bounce off each other for three acts like Ping Pong balls rack-cting around one of those electronic saloon games. (For theatric purposes, the latter actress, formerly of Beaver, Pa:, insists on spelling her first name with a small "r" while concealing the surname.)

Ms. Hansen's role is that of the senior widow, a slightly mad writer whose eccentricities blossom beautifully as the show progresses. On the other hand, the relic portrayed by rosalie is certifiably

Senate votes energy billions

WASHINGTON (AP) -The Senate Friday approved a $7.1 billion bill to authorize a variety of energy programs, including new funds for the dispute-ridden breeder reactor program.

ed 77 to 0.

It now goes to a House-Senate conference committee to work out differences between it and a missilar variety process of the conference of the c similar version passed by the House.

PASSAGE came after the Senate rejected amendments that would have made private utili-ties pay half of all future cost overruns on the Clinch River Breeder at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and that would have tightened safety requirements on the project. Critics complained that although the price tag has risen from $699 million in 1972 to $1.95 billion now, the share of private utili-ties in the venture has re-mained at $257 million.

Sen. Floyd Haskell, D-Colo., argued unsuccessfully that these utilities should pay for 50 per cent of all further cost increases once the total cost edges above $2 billion.

But the Senate instead voted to absorb the latest cost overruns entirely with government funds, approving the full $171 million the Ford administration had sought for the project for fiscal 1977.

The Senate approved by voice vote an amendment giving Congress authority to reject any future sales by the United States of nu-clear fuel or materials to nations such as India and Spain which have not signed the Nuclear Nonprolifration Treaty.

It rejected, 77 to 5, a move by Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, that would have required the Defense Department to disclose the size of its nuclear arsenal.

GRAVEL'S amendment would also have halted production of plutonium for nuclear warheads and would have given Congress authority to set a ceiling on the number of nuclear devices held by

Claiming the United States has enough retaliatory strength to kill its enemies 40 times over and wipe out mankind, Gravel called his measure an ef-fort to exercise control "over the excessive nu-clear ambitions of our military." Sen. John O. Pastore, D

000. Overbooking passengers is a common airline prac-tice designed to make cer-tain that as many passengers as possible are put on each flight. The airlines try to sell slightly more tickets than seats to protect themselves from passengers who make reservations and fail to show up.

When all of the passengers holding reservations show up for a flight, the airline is unable to accom-modate them. If it cannot put them on another flight arriving at the same destiarriving at the same destr-nation within two hours of the flight on which they are scheduled, the airline is required by CAB regula-tions to refund their ticket price as a penalty and to give the passenger transportation on another flight to their destination.
